POOR VISIBILITY, LATER CLEARED TO LAND

1. The aircraft VI-SSK was trying to land amid poor visibility. It first came in contact with Baramati Air Traffic Controller at 8.18 am
2. Its next call was at 30 nautical miles inbound to Baramati; advised to descend in "visual meteorological conditions" at the pilot's discretion
3. On first approach to Runway 11, pilot said the runway was not visible and initiated a go-around. On second attempt, the airstrip was spotted
4. The aircraft was cleared to land on runway 11 at 8.43 am, but failed to respond to Baramati ATC. Next minute, it was up in flames

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar and four others were killed when their chartered aircraft crashed barely 200 metres from the edge of a tabletop runway at Baramati airstrip in Pune district on Wednesday morning. FlightRadar data showed the aircraft departed Mumbai at 8.10 am and disappeared from radar shortly after 8.44 am.

The 66-year-old leader, fondly known as Dada (elder brother), was flying from Mumbai to address zilla parishad election rallies near Pune, when the Learjet 45 crashed during a second landing attempt at 8.44 am. Poor visibility forced the pilot to abort the first approach, but moments after receiving clearance for the second attempt, the aircraft burst into flames near the runway threshold without providing the mandatory readback to air traffic control.

Also killed were Captain Sumit Kapoor, co-pilot Shambhavi Pathak, Pawar's personal security officer Vidit Jadhav, and flight attendant Pinki Mali. All five were declared dead at Baramati hospital.

Eyewitnesses described watching the aircraft circle the airfield before it "hit the ground hard and exploded," with the blast heard across the area. Aviation experts said the tragedy could have been avoided if the runway had been equipped with an instrument landing system to guide pilots through marginal visibility.

The Aircraft Accident Investigation Bureau is analysing the black box to determine the exact cause.

NCP founder Sharad Pawar, Ajit's uncle, rushed to Baramati where he said, Ajit's loss is one "that can never be filled". Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis declared three days of state mourning and called Ajit's death a personal loss, describing him as a "trusted friend." Ajit Pawar served as deputy CM for a record six terms across governments led by Congress, Shiv Sena, and BJP. After splitting from his uncle's party in July 2023, he secured 41 assembly seats in alliance with the BJP, solidifying his position in state politics.

His last rites will be held on Thursday at Vidya Pratishthan ground in Baramati with full state honours.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi is expected to attend. P12

MUDA: Lokayukta cops give clean chit to CM, wife; court accepts it

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

IN a relief to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, a Special Court in Bengaluru accepted the 'B' report filed by Karnataka Lokayukta police, giving a clean chit to him, his wife BM Parvathi, her brother Mallikarjuna Swamy and J Devaraju in a case of alleged irregularities in the allotment of 14 compensatory sites worth ₹56 crore to Parvathi by Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA).

The court, however, held that Directorate of Enforcement (ED), probing the money laundering angle under the provisions of the PMLA, has the right to intervene in the case as the aggrieved party to a limited extent.

Santhosh Gajanan Bhat, judge of the Special Court for the trial of criminal cases against sitting and former MPs/MLAs, pronounced the operative portion of the order, rejecting the application filed by the complainant, Snehamayi Krishna, a social activist from Mysuru.

The judge stated, "The 'B' Report filed by the Investigating Officer against accused No. 1 Siddaramaiah, accused No. 2 B M Parvathi, accused No. 3 Mallikarjuna Swamy and accused No. 4 J Devaraj, is hereby accepted. Needless to mention, the further investigation being conducted by the Investigating Officer against other accused persons should continue, and he shall file the Final Report on completion of the investigation. The application filed by the complainant to initiate contempt of court proceedings against Investigating Officer is hereby rejected."

The special court directed the office to return the case diary and also the draft copy of the final report kept in a sealed cover to the investigating officer and adjourned further hearing to February 9 for filing the final report.

5 corpns vie for lion's share in maiden budget

Each corporation received Rs 1,500 crore for remaining 7 months of FY 2025–26

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

ALL the five corporations under the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) are busy preparing their budget proposals.

The corporation officials are also searching for a venue to release their maiden budgets. Sources in the GBA said that finding a suitable venue has become a challenge.

"Under the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), the budget was used to be released in the council hall and, then, at Town Hall. It is now understood that the Central City Corporation will use the Town Hall for its maiden budget. So the other corporations are looking for bigger spaces, if not similar, to release their maiden budgets," the GBA sources said.

When the five corporations were formed they were given Rs 1,500 crore each to undertake various civic works. This was for the seven months left in the financial year 2025-26.

Expectations are high but allocation approval will depend on government grants and overall outlay sanctioned by the GBA committee, headed by the chief minister, the source added.

Officials in the Central City Corporation hope for a lion's share since it houses prominent commercial and government offices. "The city centre is always in news. It needs to be well maintained--good and clean roads, parks and playgrounds. The buildings also need to be well maintained. The budget proposal is being prepared accordingly," an official said.

Officials from the North City Corporation struck a different note. "This part of the city houses many tech giants, high rise commercial and residential spaces. Many parts have experienced flooding. Like City Central, all public utilities need to be shifted underground. The areas here are rapidly growing. Along with maintaining roads, new ones need to be laid. There is competition among the corporations, but it is healthy," a senior North City Corporation official said.

Engineers in the East and West divisions said that these areas are continuously growing and newer layouts are being formed. "In the past many areas were neglected due to various reasons. But now with the division of the corporations, each area needs special focus for thorough developmental works," the engineers said.

However, the proposal being drafted by officials from the South City Corporation is being chalked out on different lines. The officials highlighted that many residential and commercial spaces share boundaries with forests and have been noting many conflict cases. So along with maintaining green patches, development cannot be compromised upon, keeping the rising competition in mind, they said.

Public toilets unsafe for specially-abled, women: BNP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AN audit of 38 public toilets in the city's southern localities through local 'area sabhas' b etween Nov 2025 and Jan 2026, has revealed that 95% of them are unusable for persons with disabilities.

The audit was conducted by Bengauru Navanirmana Party (BNP). BNP founder general secretary Srikanth Narasimhan said that the audit also shed light on other factors like zero transgender toilets across 21 wards, only 45% are fully functional, 92% have steps; no usable ramps, 71% unsafe for women, 100% are tanker water dependent, and 82% charge users without receipts.

The key findings were presented to the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Chief Commissioner, said Narasimhan.

As per the Right to Persons With Disability (RPwD) Act 2016, public toilets must be accessible, barrier-free, and designed to cater to the needs of persons with disabilities. Additionally, in January 2025, the Supreme Court declared that access to clean, functional, and safe public toilets is a fundamental right under Article 21.

The findings point to a near total exclusion of persons with disabilities, with over 95 per cent of toilets inaccessible in practice, 92 per cent having steps blocking entry, and none equipped with usable ramps.

Toilets designated for PwDs were frequently found locked or used as storage, only partially accessible.

The audit also found zero dedicated toilets for transgender persons across all 21 wards, forcing transgender users in every surveyed location to use women's toilets, raising serious concerns around dignity and personal safety," he added.

BNP has proposed at least one public toilet every 800 metres in high-footfall areas, instituting quarterly audits on hygiene, safety, and accessibility, and mandating that every facility have at least one universally accessible unit and one gender-neutral unit. The recommendations also called for standardised design, construction, and maintenance protocols, partnerships with citizen groups and NGOs for ongoing monitoring, and a transition to solar lighting, rainwater harvesting, and sewage treatment plant linkages.

WORK TO GET HIGH SCORES IN SWACHH SURVEKSHAN DRIVE: RAO TO OFFICIALS

Bengaluru: GBA Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao on Wednesday directed officials of all five city corporations under GBA to work effectively to achieve high scores in the Swachh Survekshan campaign. He told the officials to coordinate and work efficiently to ensure that GBA scores well in this year's survey, which is conducted by the Union Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs every year. "Intensive cleaning operations must be carried out across all five city corporations. Pedestrian pathways should be cleaned using water jets, and grass should be planted around trees and plants on these pathways," Necessary changes should be made to the city's solid waste management system and garbage dumping spots (black spots) should be eliminated completely and door-to-door waste collection systems should be implemented efficiently. He instructed officials to prepare a comprehensive action plan covering all these aspects. Chief Executive Officer, Bengaluru Solid Waste Management Limited, Karee Gowda stated that nodal officers will be appointed by the five city corporations and Bengaluru Water Supply and Sewerage Board for the campaign.

Surya flags 'savings clause' in draft BMLTA rules

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BENGALURU South MP Tejasvi Surya has submitted formal objections to the Draft Bengaluru Metropolitan Land Transport Authority (BMLTA) Rules, 2025, and has sought the removal of Rule 24 from the final notified rules, through a letter to the Urban Development Department (UDD) on Wednesday.

The draft BMLTA Rules, notified in the Karnataka Gazette on January 3, introduce a 'savings' clause under Rule 24. This provision exempts previously announced large-scale infrastructure projects from requiring approval of the BMLTA, thereby potentially allowing proposals such as the Tunnel Road project to be deemed approved without institutional scrutiny.

Expressing serious concern over the provision, Surya stated that, "This (Rule 24 savings clause) is nothing but a dangerous attempt by the Congress-led state government to retrospectively rubber stamp the Tunnel Road project and other works to the tune of Rs 1 lakh crore. Developmental works are indeed essential for the progress of Bengaluru but the BMLTA Rules cannot be a tool to bypass scrutiny and erase accountability."

In addition, as per law, the subordinate rules cannot override the principal legislation, he pointed out. "These rules are also illegal since subordinate legislation cannot override the principal act. Through these rules, the Congress attempts to prematurely kill the act - the primary reason for our opposition to it," he added.

Stressing the original intent behind the legislation, Surya noted that the BMLTA Act was enacted in 2022 by the BJP Government to ensure transparency, institutional oversight and structured planning in Bengaluru's urban mobility ecosystem. He said the draft rules, particularly Rule 24, undermine the very purpose of the law and weaken an institution meant to function in the larger public interest.

Surya also urged that other citizens submit their objections in the timeframe provided by the Government of Karnataka.

GBA to form task forces for road work, illegal buildings

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

GREATER Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Chief Commissioner M Maheshwar Rao on Wednesday directed his officials to form separate task forces to monitor road widening work and unauthorised buildings in the limits of five corporations.

He was speaking at a coordination meeting of various departments under GBA to resolve issues that arise during implementation of development projects in the city. This decision comes in the wake of many civic activists accusing GBA officials of failing to act against errant building owners. Referring to the work on Panathur road in the limits of East City Corporation, he said a road should be constructed near the railway line and forest land there for the benefit of the people. Steps should be taken to start work on the new road soon in coordination with all stakeholders. He instructed the officials to inspect the work on widening Nagawara Main Road and Hosur Road (Anepalya Junction). Rao said the face recognition attendance system should be installed for pourakarmikas in all corporation offices. "This system has been installed in the limits of the Central City Corporation. Officials of other corporations should install the system in the next two weeks," he added.

To prevent fire accidents in summer, a hydrant system should be set up across the city. Steps should be taken to build water tanks in vulnerable areas of the city, he said and stressed the need to establish a fire control room in GBA. Referring to some pending railway overpass and underpass projects, he said a list of all works undertaken in the city by the Railways should be prepared at the earliest. "Hold a meeting with railway officials on completing the pending projects soon," he told the GBA officials.

Spl schools demand 40% increase in govt grants

Bengaluru: Around 2,500 teachers, non-teaching staff, and children with special needs protested at Freedom Park on Wednesday against the state government, demanding an increase of 40% in the grants given to children with special needs and teachers. These children include the visually impaired, deaf, those with cerebral palsy, and others. President for Teachers' Association, Kanti Harish, said, "Special schools run by non-government organisations get a monthly grant of Rs 9,000 per student, and that too is being given for only 10 months of the year. We want the state government to increase this grant." He further said, "When the state government can pay Rs 60,000 to 80,000 salary per month to government school teachers, why can't they pay the teachers working in these special schools? We receive only Rs 20,250 as an honorarium which is not sufficient."

Long desk hours fuel bone disorders in women

GAYATHRI M KURUP @Bengaluru

BENGALURU is witnessing a growing public health concern as more women are being diagnosed with bone and joint disorders much earlier than in previous decades. Doctors across specialities say women in their mid-30s and 40s are now experiencing persistent joint pain, muscle cramps, and early fatigue, symptoms that were once common only after the age of 50.

The city's IT-driven work culture has emerged as a key contributor. Long hours of desk work, extended commutes, and prolonged indoor living have drastically reduced physical activity and sunlight exposure among working women. Doctors noted that this has led to widespread vitamin D deficiency and poor bone mineral density, a trend that intensified after the Covid-19 pandemic due to work-from-home routines.

Women aged 35 to 45 are increasingly reporting knee and joint pain, according to orthopaedic specialists. Dr JV Srinivas, Lead Senior Consultant - Orthopaedics & Joint Replacement at Aster RV Hospital, said delayed pregnancies have further aggravated the issue. "Calcium loss is higher in late pregnancies, and without adequate time or lifestyle support to rebuild bone strength, women become vulnerable to early bone and cartilage degeneration," he explained.

Symptoms are appearing much earlier than expected. Dr Banarji BH, Senior Consultant - Orthopaedics at Sakra World Hospital, said women in their mid-30s are now seeking treatment for conditions previously seen in their 50s. "Prolonged sitting, work-related stress, and hormonal imbalance are weakening muscle and bone mass. Obesity and unsafe weight-loss methods, including unregulated medications and sudden intense workouts, are also causing ligament and joint injuries," he added.

Hormonal health plays a crucial role in women's bone strength. Dr Madhuri Vidyashankar P, Consultant Gynaecologist at Motherhood Hospitals, said early menopause, thyroid disorders, and autoimmune conditions such as rheumatoid arthritis significantly increase osteoporosis risk. "Estrogen protects bone density. When menopause occurs early, naturally or due to ovary removal during hysterectomy—fracture risk rises sharply. Ovaries should be conserved until at least 55 years unless medically necessary," she advised.

Doctors emphasised that osteoporosis is preventable and treatable if detected early. They recommended regular strength training, adequate calcium intake, vitamin D supplementation, sunlight exposure, and periodic DEXA scans, particularly for high-risk women, to prevent long-term disability and fractures.

HOLIDAY MATHIS

29th January : Communication Conjunction Mercury conjunct Venus reminds us how assumption can lead us down the wrong path. We hear more clearly when we don't anticipate what will be said. The trouble is, we often don't even know we are making assumptions because certain beliefs are so embedded in the culture, they are undetectable. It's why we need outsiders to help us understand life on the inside.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Even when the work is important, you try to appear relaxed because overseriousness seems uncool when there are so many people in the world handling all kinds of challenges. Don't doubt or judge yourself. Your instincts are legendary.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20)
You're not wrong or vain to think about the optics of a situation. A reputation is a thing you own, like property. It's an asset that you can leverage. Like all possessions, a reputation requires maintenance. You'll make updates today.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21)
The answers are not in the attic of your mind, so no need to crawl through those cobwebs. The world around you will show you every single thing you want to know. All you have to do is slow down and observe.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22)
Balancing work and play is challenging when all you want to do is play and all there is before you is work. But if you can turn the work into play, you're golden. It's done with an attitude. Your approach makes all the difference.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
Your predictions will be accurate because you are a realist. Friends and loved ones will behave true to form, particularly in the form you have come to learn they tend to take, and not the form hopefully projected upon them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
The good life is your current life. It's good because you know this. Your senses take you to a vivid experience of things. To live fully, you don't need to go anywhere or become anything other than what you already are.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23)
Your talent for organization kicks in. You want to move a mountain, so little by little you will make it move. You can make this clean and orderly. Amazing what a few containers and shelves can do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21)
As generous as you are, it's good to keep reminding yourself that if you're not the one deciding about the people, projects and terms of your life, then it gets decided for you. Stay at the center of your life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
When something is personal, we can't see it very well, the way we don't see our own backs very well. We need mirrors and the eyes of others to get the whole perspective. Those lenses aren't necessarily correct, but they do give more information.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
You're looking forward to the day you get to the goal. It doesn't mean you're not engaged now. Of course there is no real success without a journey. What's happening right now inside this work is golden, and you know it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
When life comes at you fast and colorful, it inspires excitement and awe. There is just as much of that in the slow shadows of your interior world today. Treasures will gleam in the silence.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar 20)
There's a lot happening in your realm today that is not your responsibility, and yet, whatever you do to improve it will make your life much easier. Can you take it on unofficially? Anonymously?

Drug syndicate linked to Thailand busted, 10 held

Arrested include students, techies; drugs worth Rs 4 crore seized

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Amruthahalli police have arrested 10 drug peddlers, including students and software engineers, who were part of a syndicate that sourced drugs from Thailand through mules and received consignments at airports after evading customs officials.

The accused also procured LSD strips through the dark web under the name "Team Kalki". The police seized 3 kg of hydro ganja, 50 grams of MDMA, 500 grams of charas, 10 kg of ganja, and 500 LSD strips, all worth around Rs 4 crore.

The accused have been identified as Kushal Gowda (23), an aeronautical engineer who has a previous drug case in Tumakuru; Shashank (22), an LLB student; and Sagar (29), a native of Ramanagara, and a bouncer by profession. All three are residents of Bengaluru. The other accused are Wilson (48), Ashir Ali (36), Riyaz (35), and KP Shiab (30), all car drivers; Sajad (34), a cook; Abdul Nasir (28), who works at a medical shop; and Abhinav (21), a software engineer. All seven are natives of Kerala and were staying in different parts of the city.

The police said that based on a tip-off about drug peddling near the Jakkur railway track on January 19, four accused were arrested, including two from other states. From their possession, 1 kg of hydro ganja, 50 grams of MDMA, 500 grams of charas, and 8 kg of ganja were seized, and a case was registered.

During interrogation, the accused allegedly confessed that they were procuring hydro ganja and MDMA from Thailand and Dubai through mules. The mules, who were paid Rs 2 lakh along with travel expenses, brought the drugs to Bengaluru after evading customs officials at the airport. The receivers would then collect the drugs from the mules and distribute them to peddlers across the city.

City Police Commissioner Seemanth Kumar Singh inspects the seized narcotics in Bengaluru on Wednesday

The accused allegedly divided the city into areas such as HSR Layout, Koramangala, Electronics City, Begur, Bommanahalli, and Bannerghatta, targeting students and IT employees. The police added that the accused had also been involved in scuffles over territorial disputes related to drug sales, though these incidents did not come to light. To avoid detection, the accused frequently changed their drug procurement patterns by using different mules, airports, and airlines. The arrested revealed the names of five more peddlers, who were arrested on January 20 near Kaggalipura, leading to the seizure of 2 kg of ganja near the GKVK ground.

The next day, another accused was arrested near the Satellite Bus Stand on Mysuru Road, which led to the seizure of 500 LSD strips.

DCP (North East) GK Mithun Kumar said that it is suspected the accused were operating as a syndicate and that more accused may be involved in the gang. He added that the police are probing the loopholes that allowed the mules to evade airport scanners.

Two held with ganja worth ₹60 lakh

The Thalaghattapura police arrested two men for allegedly peddling 78.4 kg of ganja worth Rs 60 lakh. Police said that based on a tip-off about drug peddling near Banashankari 6th Phase, the accused, Dhanush B (27), a native of Mandya, was arrested and 2.4 kg of ganja was seized. He revealed the involvement of his accomplice, Raghavendra R (30), a resident of Jnanabharathi, leading to the seizure of 76 kg of ganja from him. They were procuring drugs from Odisha.

Hydroponic ganja seized by Customs at KIA

Customs officers deployed at Terminal 2 (T2) of Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) intercepted 6.38 kg of hydroponic ganja on January 26. The contraband was valued to be worth around Rs 2.23 crore.The hydroponic ganja was attempted to be smuggled in by two passengers flying in from Bangkok. Both of the passengers were arrested under the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act of 1985.

Scooter theft probe uncovers inter-state SUV theft racket

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Govindapura police, while probing a two-wheeler theft case, uncovered a gang involved in stealing high-end SUV cars in Delhi and selling them in South India using forged documents. The police arrested two people and seized nine cars and a two-wheeler, worth Rs 2.31 crore. The accused have been identified as Syed Nizam (37), a resident of Frazer Town and a native of Hyderabad, and Mohammed Muzaffar (26), a resident of Golconda in Telangana. Both are car drivers and dealers.

The police said that a scooter theft case was registered on January 4. While analysing CCTV footage, the police detained Syed Nizam near an Indira Canteen the next day and took him into custody. During interrogation, he revealed that his friend in Delhi used to steal cars and hand them over to him to be sold at low prices in South India. He disclosed the involvement of his associate Mohammed Muzaffar, who was arrested on January 14 in Hyderabad. The probe revealed that they sold the stolen cars using forged documents. The Delhi-based gang allegedly stole vehicles by breaking the glass and using high-end machines to start the cars. The vehicles were then transported by road to Bengaluru. The nine cars were parked in vacant plots in HBR and HBCS Layouts in the city and were seized along with a two-wheeler. The total value of the seized vehicles is estimated at Rs 2.31 crore.

A senior police officer said the cars were stolen in Delhi and FIRs have been registered there. The city police have informed the Delhi police about the accused and other details.

Domestic help arrested for stealing valuables worth ₹1cr

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 29-year-old domestic help was arrested for allegedly stealing gold jewellery, eight diamond rings, and cash, totally worth around Rs 1 crore, from the villa of an US citizen on Rustum Bagh Main Road off Old Airport Road.

The accused Chandan (29), is a resident of Jeevan Bima Nagar and hails from West Bengal.

Mariela Morino (54), a native of Texas, has been living in the villa for the last one-and-a-half years with her husband. She works as a manager with an oil and gas company in Bellandur.

On January 21, she filed a complaint alleging the theft of eight diamond rings, white and yellow gold bracelets and a necklace, along with Rs 38,000 in cash, from a cupboard in her house. She suspected the involvement of domestic staff. Seven domestic helps working at her house were questioned, and their fingerprints were collected. Chandan, who was working for the last six months, was later found to be suspicious and was subjected to further questioning.

During interrogation, he allegedly confessed to the theft and was arrested. The stolen gold ornaments and cash were recovered from him.

Warder transferred for allowing police personnel near actor Darshan's cell

Bengaluru: A jail warder at the Bengaluru Central Prison has been transferred and now faces disciplinary action for allegedly facilitating police constables' attempt to catch a glimpse of film actor Darshan inside the prison. Director General of Police (Prisons) Alok Kumar ordered a departmental inquiry and transferred warder Prabhushankar Chauhan to Chamarajanagar Jail. According to officials, the incident occurred on January 24, when police constables from the Yelahanka Police Station, who had gone to the prison to hand over an accused, expressed a desire to see actor Darshan. The warder allegedly bypassed CCTV surveillance and took them close to the actor's cell. Officials, however, said the police constables did not interact with Darshan.

Man held for threatening, abusing car driver

Bengaluru: A 25-year-old man was arrested in connection with a road rage incident in which he allegedly abused and attempted to assault a car driver. The incident occurred near Halasuru Road Cross on January 26. The accused, Syed Sameer, is a labourer. According to police, the incident took place around 1.30 pm on Monday when the victim was driving home. Syed, who was riding a scooter, allegedly jumped a signal and nearly collided with the victim's car. When the victim cautioned him, the accused allegedly responded, saying, "My bike, my road." When the victim asked him to repeat the remark at the police station, Syed became aggressive. After the victim moved ahead, the accused is said to have followed him, blocked his car, abused him using filthy language, attempted to assault him, and issued death threats.

BJP on Wednesday urged the State Government to suspend the Tarikere police inspector, who had issued a notice to BJP leader Vikas Puttur, who was scheduled to speak at a Hindu Samajotsava, under the provisions of Hate Speech Bill. Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil said the government will seek an explanation from the inspector. Patil admitted that it is wrong to use the provisions of the Bill when it has not become an Act yet

STATE GOVT TAPPING PHONES IN GUV'S OFFICE, CHARGES BJP

Opposition says Patil must apologise for accusing governor of taking instructions from Delhi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Opposition BJP on Wednesday accused the State Government of tapping the phones of Lok Bhavan (formerly Raj Bhavan) and the RSS state headquarters (Keshava Krupa) and sought a probe by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI).

The allegations by the BJP came in response to Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil's recent statement in the Assembly, in which he alleged that Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot was receiving directives from leaders in Delhi and that this was the reason he left the Assembly Hall without making the customary address.

Leader of Opposition R Ashoka recalled that the Ramakrishna Hegde government in the past had collapsed over phone-tapping allegations and asked the present government to be more cautious.

Patil, however, said that he had made the allegations last week, but there was no response from the Union Government denying it.

During the heated debate on Wednesday on the Governor's speech, Patil told BJP members that their leaders from Delhi make calls to the governor's office and curtail his power. Patil was replying to the allegations made by senior BJP MLA Suresh Kumar, who had alleged that when HR Bharadwaj was governor, he had left his speech after the then LoP Siddaramaiah insisted he not read it. Reacting sharply, Suresh Kumar questioned whether the State Government was indulging in phone-tapping. He also referred to RDPR and IT/BT Minister Priyank Kharge's statement that the governor's office receives calls from Keshava Krupa and asked whether this implied that a phone-tapping mechanism had been installed. "Does it mean he has kept a phone-tapping machine at his place?" Suresh said.

Leader of Opposition in Assembly and senior BJP MLA R Ashoka makes a point in the Assembly on Wednesday | EXPRESS

Adding to this, BJP MLA Sunil Kumar accused the government of deliberately interfering with the functioning of the governor's office. He said Patil had made the allegation not once but twice on the floor of the House and demanded a clarification. "The government has stooped to such a low level," he said.

The BJP members demanded that Patil withdraw his statement and apologise. Siddaramaiah intervened saying that Patil just took a reference and it is not a big deal that needs to be dragged.

Later, speaking to reporters, Ashoka said the ministers have indirectly admitted to phone-tapping. "Phone tapping is a crime. The Law Minister has committed an unforgivable offense and should apologise. There should be a CBI investigation. The government is getting all the information about what is happening in Raj Bhavan. The government should release the list of names of central leaders and RSS leaders who called Raj Bhavan," Ashoka added.

Opposition members demanded that the State Government express regret over the behaviour of the Congress members, which they claimed was an insult to the governor. Ashoka said that Minister HK Patil said that the governor ran away from the House. "We have video evidence. In the footage, Congress legislator BK Hariprasad is shown gesturing towards the governor, while another legislator, Sharath Bacchegowda, is trying to block the governor's way. The State Government should have expressed regret over the incident," he said.

The Opposition also criticised the Congress for moving a condemnation resolution instead of passing a vote of thanks on the Governor's address. Ashoka also pointed out that CM Siddaramaiah has announced to rename gram panchayats after Mahatma Gandhi, while there is a rule that no announcements should be made outside the Assembly during the session. Ashoka said that the governor read a few lines of the speech, but Siddaramaiah and others are making false allegations that he did not read at all.

The Congress government has become a habitual offender in insulting the governor, he said. "During the RCB victory celebrations outside Vidhana Soudha, the governor was invited. As per protocol, when the governor is sitting on the stage, only a certain number of people should be sitting. But here, many people were seen on the stage. Also, there was a whisky logo kept next to the governor... was that not an insult? Where was the protocol?" Ashoka said.

Guv walkout row: Chaos in Council after Oppn MLCs protest in well

Opposition members protest in the well of the Council during the session in Vidhana Soudha on Wednesday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

@ Bengaluru

PROCEEDINGS in the Legislative Council were disrupted on Wednesday as the Opposition MLCs gathered in the well of the House to protest against Congress members criticising the Governor's address while at the same time presenting the motion of thanks.

LoP Chalavadi Narayanaswamy said, "It either has to be welcoming the governor's address or condemning it. It cannot be both," he said.

Congress members said that they are not against the governor's speech but against his action. They alleged that the governor disrespected the National Anthem. Opposing this, BJP members said that it was the government's mistake of not playing the National Anthem immediately after the governor ended his address.

Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti told the members that they cannot take the names of the President and the Governor, or else he would have to take disciplinary action.

To the complaints that the Governor ended his speech after reading a paragraph, Horatti said, "Irrespective of whether he read the first paragraph or last paragraph, the governor's speech is considered read and accepted." As the chaos in the Council continued, the chairman briefly adjourned the House and invited the deputy chairperson, the leader of the House, the leader of the Opposition, and whips for a closed-door meeting.

After the council resumed, Narayanaswamy said that the Congress members have insulted the Constitution, and they have to decide whether they have to move a 'censure motion' or a 'motion of thanks' on the governor's address. The chairman said that the leader of the House has accepted the governor's speech, and their earlier condemnation will become "null and void".

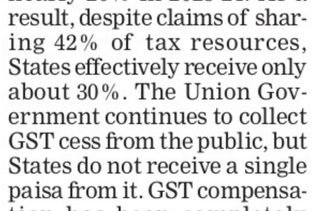
Narayanaswamy further urged that the Congress members express their regret for "condemning the governor's speech" and that it be removed from the Council records, as it will set a wrong precedent, to which the chairman agreed. The council was later adjourned.

CM PLANS TO EXTEND SESSION BY 2 DAYS TO DISCUSS MGNREGA

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

CM Siddaramaiah on Wednesday proposed extending the special session of joint legislature by two days —February 1 and 2— to discuss the Centre repealing MGNREGA, and replacing it with VB-G RAM G. Chairing Congress Legislature Party (CLP) meeting, he said the issue is likely to be discussed at Business Advisory Committee on Saturday, and official clearance sought. This is because the debate on motion of thanks on the Governor's address will continue for a day or two, and the CM will give his reply on January 31. The session was originally scheduled to be held from January 22 to 31. Post debate, the government plans to pass a resolution demanding the Centre repeal VB-G RAM G and reinstate MGNREGA. MLCs appealed to the CM to provide them grants on par with MLAs for development works. Under the CM Infrastructure Development Programme, the CM has sanctioned Rs 50 crore each to Congress MLAs, and Rs 25 crore to Opposition MLAs. The MLCs appealed for at least Rs 25crore, sources said. Some MLAs raised the issue of reservation for the rural local body polls and sought amendments to ensure the victory of Congress candidates, but the CM said changes cannot be made as reservation is fixed. Siddaramiah said he will present the budget in March.

Justice in tax sharing: Karnataka hopes to get its due from 16th Finance Commission



SIDDARAMAIAH
Chief Minister of Karnataka

THE 16th Finance Commission, chaired by Dr Arvind Panagariya, visited various States from 2023 onwards, held discussions, received representations, and submitted its report to the Hon'ble President on November 17, 2025. Under Article 280 of the Constitution, the President constitutes the Finance Commission. The Commission is mandated to recommend to the President, who is the head of the federal structure, the formulas for distribution of total tax revenues collected by the Union among the States. In addition, it is required to make recommendations regarding grants to States under centrally sponsored schemes; grants to rural and urban local bodies; grants for health and disaster management; and any other matters related to sound financial management as referred to it by the President.

It is expected that this report will be released on the first day of the Budget session. The 16th Finance Commission has assumed far greater significance than previous commissions. This is because the injustice meted out by the 15th Finance Commission and the Union Government to progressive States has severely weakened the economic condition of most States in the country. The very foundation of fiscal discipline in major States has been eroded. Even when we examine Karnataka's economic position, it is evident that compared to the 14th Finance Commission, the 15th Finance Commission reduced our tax share by 23% directly. Some economically ill-informed individuals fail to understand this and indulge in baseless arguments. The 14th Finance Commission had allocated 4.71% to Karnataka, whereas the 15th Finance Commission reduced it drastically to 3.64%, amounting to a grave injustice.

To illustrate: Out of every Rs100 meant for distribution to the states, Karnataka earlier received Rs 4.71, but the 15th Finance Commission reduced this to Rs 3.64. As a result, Karnataka directly lost nearly Rs 80,000 crore in tax devolution, which is an enormous injustice to the State. Karnataka, which plays a driving role in India's economic strength, ranks first in per-capita economic productivity. The Union Government collects approximately Rs 4.5 to Rs 5 lakh crore annually from Karnataka in the form of taxes, cesses and surcharges. Yet, it is unfortunate that Karnataka receives the lowest share of tax devolution and grants from the Centre among all States.

Therefore, only if Karnataka is restored at least the 4.71% share granted by the 14th Finance Commission, can the State breathe a sigh of relief. Anything less would perpetuate injustice; anything more alone would constitute real justice. Even a reduction of 0.01% below this benchmark would continue the unfair treatment of the State.

The 15th Finance Commission had recommended a special grant of Rs 5,495 crore to Karnataka, along with Rs 3,000 crore for the Bengaluru Peripheral Ring Road and Rs 3,000 crore for lake development, totalling Rs 11,495 crore. However, the Union Government failed to release these funds, thereby committing grave injustice. Under centrally sponsored schemes, States are required to bear 40% of the cost from their own revenues. From 2021 to 2024-25, Karnataka was supposed to contribute Rs 49,271 crore, but due to the Union Government's failure to provide its rightful share, the State had to bear an additional burden of Rs 23,402 crore. Consequently, Karnataka's contribution rose to over 50%. Under the Jal Jeevan Mission alone, the Centre has withheld more than Rs 13,000 crore. From the grants recommended by the Commission, allocations to rural and urban local bodies were reduced by Rs 1,802 crore, and allocations to the health sector by Rs 874 crore.

By collecting cesses and surcharges without limits and not sharing them with States, the Union Government is causing severe injustice. In 2023-24, the Centre collected Rs 5.53 lakh crore through cesses and surcharges alone. While these constituted 9.4% of total tax revenue in 2011-12, they rose to nearly 20% in 2023-24. As a result, despite claims of sharing 42% of tax resources, States effectively receive only about 30%. The Union Government continues to collect GST cess from the public, but States do not receive a single paisa from it. GST compensation has been completely stopped since June 2022. When GST was implemented, States were assured an annual 14% growth in revenues. When this growth did not materialise, the Centre was obligated to compensate States. Its failure to do so has resulted in an annual loss of nearly Rs 20,000 crore to Karnataka.

In September last year, the Union Government abruptly reduced GST rates, leading to GST growth falling to 5%. The primary reason for this sudden revision is the decline in people's purchasing power. Otherwise, there would have been no justification for reducing repo rates twice since February. After amassing enormous tax revenues since 2017 under GST, the Centre would not suddenly revise rates merely to project itself as people-friendly. Yet, consumer price index (CPI) data remains deeply discouraging. Inflation should ideally be between 2% and 4%; anything below 2% is considered dangerous. From May 2025 onwards, CPI trends in most States, except Karnataka, have been unsatisfactory. Only in December did Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh show marginal improvement. Karnataka's healthy CPI is solely due to our guarantee schemes. It is our duty to place before the people the demands and representations submitted by the State before the 16th Finance Commission. Our key demands are as follows:

1. The injustice suffered under the 15th Finance Commission arose primarily from the flawed formulas it adopted. The excessive 45% weightage to income distance was the main reason. Karnataka was allocated a lower share simply because per-capita income is higher. Per-capita income is merely one indicator of economic measurement, and cannot be the sole determinant. It averages income across rich and poor alike, masking inequality. Due to the policies adopted by the Union Government since 2014, wealth has become highly concentrated. According to global inequality studies, the poorest 50% earn only 15% of total income, while the richest 10% earn over 58%. Treating everyone uniformly under the income distance formula, and thereby reducing grants is fundamentally unjust. We have demonstrated to the 16th Finance Commission that several districts, including Kalyana Karnataka, have per-capita incomes below the national average. Hence, the weightage for this formula must be reduced from 45% to 25%.

2. Karnataka also suffered because the 15th Finance Commission changed the GSDP base year from 2004-05 to 2011-12. In 2004-05, States were relatively similar in exports and production methods. After the IT revolution, companies gravitated to States with favourable law and order, with Bengaluru being a prime example. While IT exports benefit the Centre immensely, they artificially inflate Karnataka's GSDP. Due to the base year change, Karnataka's GSDP growth appeared to rise by 33%, whereas the national average was calculated at 5.6%, resulting in injustice. This methodology must be corrected realistically.

3. Using 2011 population data instead of 1971 also caused severe injustice. States that successfully controlled population growth were effectively penalised rather than rewarded. To rectify this, 1971 population data must be restored, and population weightage must be rationally reassessed.

4. Funds under NDRF and SDRF should be scientifically assessed. Between 2018 and 2024, Karnataka suffered losses of Rs 1.56 lakh crore due to natural disasters. Despite recurrent droughts, floods and excessive rainfall since 2002, the State was assigned only 5 risk points. This must be increased to 15%.

5. To encourage decentralisation, a Panchayat Devolution Index must be adopted. Earlier commissions assigned 90% weightage to population and 10% to area, disadvantaging well-performing States. The formula should instead be 60% population, 20% geographical area, and 20% devolution index.

6. Karnataka has allocated Rs 25,000 crore over five years for Kalyana Karnataka. The Union Government must provide a matching grant and an additional Rs 10,000 crore special package for environmental protection and disaster management in the region.

7. The Malnad, Coastal, and Western Ghats regions are ecologically sensitive zones that safeguard India's environmental health. Farmers there face severe hardship and must be supported with special grants. Karnataka also has the second-largest dryland area after Rajasthan, and irrigation support must be provided accordingly.

8. For Bengaluru's infrastructure development, investments of Rs 1.15 lakh crore are required over five years. We have requested the 16th Finance Commission to recommend at least Rs 27,793 crore for this purpose.

9. As demanded by the Hon'ble Prime Minister when he was Chief Minister of Gujarat, the States' share in divisible taxes must be increased from 41% to 50%, and cesses and surcharges must be capped at 5% of Union revenue, with the remainder shared with States.

Since 2020, Karnataka has suffered immensely due to economic injustice. Taking all these factors into account, we hope the 16th Finance Commission and Union Government will deliver justice to the State. As trustees of public money, it is the Government's duty to place these facts before the people.

Khadi must once a month for govt staff: Meet to discuss idea today

BENGALURU: To popularise khadi, the State Government is considering a proposal to ask all government employees and officers to wear khadi outfits on the first Friday of every month. The chief secretary's office has issued a notice to the president of Karnataka State Government Employees Association asking him to attend a meeting convened on Thursday to discuss the issue. The meeting will also gather feedback from employee representatives. The plan is also to make khadi attire mandatory during Independence Day, Republic Day and other official government events. The initiative is part of the state's broader effort to promote khadi, officials said.

Glitches in e-Swathu software will be resolved in 25 days, says Priyank Kharge

BENGALURU: RDPR and IT/BT Minister Priyank Kharge said on Wednesday that e-Swathu, the new software to issue e-khatas, has some technical issues which will be resolved in the next 25 days. "We are aware of the delay in processing applications and disbursal of e-khatas," he said. Raising the matter in the House, Kundapur BJP MLA Kiran Kumar Kodgi said due to technical issues in e-Swathu, people are not getting e-khata in gram panchayat offices in his constituency. Kharge said the software was launched in December. With a view to resolving the issues, workshops are being conducted for panchayat development officers. He said panchayat offices received 44,608 applications in the last two months. Of them, 7,978 have been cleared. The RDPR Department has launched a dedicated helpline to help applicants know the status of their applications. Over 77,000 calls have been received. The technical issues will be resolved in the next 25 days, the minister said.

Aren't you ashamed to keep Lad in cabinet: Janardhana to Siddu

BENGALURU: Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Wednesday in the Assembly recalled his padayatra to Ballari from Bengaluru as the LoP in 2010, over the illegal mining issue, only to be hit back by Gangavathi MLA Gali Janardhana Reddy. Siddaramaiah claimed that he led the padayatra after a debate on the then Lokayukta Justice Santhosh Hegde's report on illegal mining. He had forgotten the year of the padayatra, as he stated it could have been 2011. But Reddy corrected the Chief Minister and suggested the latter not to give misinformation. "It happened in July 2010. After the padayatra, the Supreme Court cancelled the mining lease of Santhosh Lad (present labour minister), are you (Chief Minister) not ashamed to keep him as a minister in the House?" he asked Siddaramaiah.

A 25-year-old male giraffe, Yuvaraja, died due to age-related ailments at Mysuru Zoo on Wednesday. Zoo authorities said Yuvaraja, one of the major attractions of Mysuru Zoo, died around 10.30 am. Yuvaraja was born on December 7, 2001, to giraffes Henry and Honey, which were brought to Mysuru Zoo from a zoo in Germany in 1987

KCCI for sweeping tax reforms in Union Budget '26

Sends memorandum to Nirmala Sitharaman

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hubballi

THE Karnatak Chamber of Commerce and Industry (KCCI) has urged the Union government to announce comprehensive policy and tax reforms in the Union Budget 2026–27 to accelerate industrial development, generate employment, and improve ease of doing business, particularly for micro, small and medium enterprises.

In a memorandum sent to Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, the KCCI, as part of its infrastructure and regional development proposals, has called for the establishment of an Integrated Railway Coach Factory in Hubballi, fast-tracking of long-pending railway projects, and the creation of a Defence Industrial Park near Kittur in Belagavi district to promote balanced growth in North Karnataka.

On the income tax front, the memorandum recommends a significant increase in audit and presumptive taxation limits, a reduction of presumptive tax rates, and a cut in the partnership firm tax rate from 30 per cent to 25 per cent.

To ease cash-flow stress on MSMEs, it has sought the withdrawal or dilution of Section 43 B (h), alignment of PF and ESI provisions with Section 43 B, and relief from certain TDS obligations, including exemption of interest paid to NBFCs.

The KCCI has also proposed allowing key deductions such as Sections 80C and 80U and housing loan interest under the new tax regime, the introduction of a cash-ledger mechanism in income tax similar to GST, and tax exemption on capital gains used for education or medical expenses.

In the GST regime, the memorandum seeks higher exemption thresholds, expansion of the composition scheme limits for both goods and services, and a reduction of the composition tax rate for restaurants from 5 per cent to one per cent. It has also called for a completely faceless GST refund system, protection of input tax credit where taxes have already been paid, and a GST Tribunal bench in Hubballi to serve taxpayers in North Karnataka.

Additional recommendations include a tax amnesty scheme for technical defaults, simplification of GST rules for joint development agreements, implementation of tax rate changes from April 1, and a single-window application system for various regulatory renewals. Reintroduction of Dividend Distribution Tax (DDT) was suggested to reduce compliance related to foreign remittances and TDS filings.

To tackle unaccounted money, the KCCI has proposed prescribing a cash-holding limit and enhancing industry-specific training for tax officers. It also urged the government to better the target welfare expenditure using Aadhaar and rein in rising salary and pension costs.

Govt okays Iskcon food at state-run hospitals

Bengaluru: The Karnataka government has approved the supply of prepared food and essential dietary items by the Iskcon organisation to several government hospitals under the Department of Health and Family Welfare. The approval covers Wenlock District Hospital in Mangaluru, District Hospital in Dharwad, and public hospitals at KR Puram and Nelamangala in Bengaluru Urban and Rural districts. As per the government order, Iskcon will provide meals under revised diet plans, including General Diet, Therapeutic Diet, Pregnant and Lactating Mother Diet, and Paediatric Diet. The total expenditure sanctioned for the initiative is Rs 2.83 crore. Officials have emphasised that the food supplied must be of good quality and provided at reasonable rates.

VTU squads to find firms charging for internships

Bengaluru: After many students complained that companies were charging them fees for undergoing internships, Visvesvaraya Technological University Vice-Chancellor S Vidyashankar has announced that the varsity will set up squads to investigate the claim. Addressing students at BMS Engineering College on Wednesday, he said, "I will appoint separate inspection squads to monitor the functioning of students and the companies where they have enrolled for internship. We have received complaints that some companies have, after claiming to provide free internships, demanded money from students. We will take action against such companies."

Ads can cover 40% of buses, flagged it 2 months ago: Min

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AMID growing protests against pan masala advertisements on state-run buses, Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy clarified that existing rules permit advertisements on only 40 per cent of a bus exterior, but there are violations with some buses being fully wrapped in ads.

He told The New Indian Express on Wednesday that he had flagged the matter nearly two months ago, and directed that only 40% of a bus exterior be utilised for advertisements, and the limit be strictly adhered to. Any deviation requires prior approval.

Recently, the public has staged protests by tearing down advertisements, and youth groups had also torn down posters from buses, questioning why such advertisements were permitted on public transport.

While acknowledging public concern, the minister pointed out that advertisements on buses have existed for several years and contribute revenue for transport corporations. He argued that regulation is necessary.

"We (bus corporations) do not manufacture gutkha or pan masala. We only permit advertisements. If factories are shut and sales are stopped, advertisements will automatically disappear," Reddy said.

On overcrowding in BMTC buses during peak hours, the minister said more buses can be run during peak hour, and he would immediately direct the BMTC managing director to do so.

BIRDWATCHERS DELIGHTED TO SPOT RARE BROWN ROCK CHAT IN HAMPI

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR
@ Hampi / Hosapete

IN a development that has excited bird watchers and conservationists alike, a rare brown rock chat, a bird species largely confined to North and Central India has been spotted in the historic landscape of Hampi. The sighting is considered significant as the species has been recorded, making its presence in Hampi an unusual and noteworthy event.

The bird was observed during a bird watching session conducted in Hampi under the guidance of environmentalist Pompayya Swamy Malemath, along with a bird watching team. The brown rock chat was seen darting swiftly amid the ancient stone structures near the Achyutaraya Temple complex, blending seamlessly with the rocky terrain that characterises the UNESCO World Heritage Site. Photographer Sabyasachi Roy managed to capture clear images of the bird, providing valuable documentation of the rare sighting.

Experts note that the brown rock chat prefers habitats such as old buildings, ruins and heritage structures, which closely resemble its natural rocky surroundings. Hampi's centuries-old monuments and boulder-strewn landscape appear to offer an ideal environment for the species. Earlier, Pompayya Malemath had reported a sighting of the bird near the Itagi Mahadeva Temple in Koppal district, while bird photographer Ramesh Desai had documented.

What has further added to the excitement is the possibility that the species may have established itself in the region.

NEW RIDER FOR GOVT DOCS' PVT PRACTICE

Health and Family Welfare dept prohibits state-appointed doctors from treating in-patients at private hospitals

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government has tightened norms governing private practice by government doctors, prohibiting them from treating in-patients at private hospitals, citing interference with public duties and patient care in government hospitals.

An order issued by the Health and Family Welfare department on Wednesday clarifies that while doctors are permitted to undertake private practice, it should not hamper their regular duties. It noted that continuity of care for in-patients requires constant supervision, and private in-patient treatment by government doctors often adversely affects services in government hospitals.

Earlier, government doctors in Karnataka were allowed to engage in private practice after hospital hours -- 9am to 4pm -- provided it did not interfere with official responsibilities. They were permitted to practice at one private clinic and one private hospital, including conducting surgeries and managing in-patients, and those who opted out of private practice were eligible for a non-practising allowance.

However, authorities found that even after duty hours, treating in-patients in private hospitals demanded continuous attention, affecting doctors' availability during emergencies in government hospitals. In smaller towns, instances of doctors leaving government hospitals during duty hours for private practice were also reported, leading to compromised patient care, and in some cases, death.

The latest clarification is explicit that private practice is now restricted only to OPD consultations outside duty hours, and private in-patient treatment is prohibited to ensure doctors' immediate availability for public service.

The order refers to several instances of neglect in government hospitals, including cases leading to patient deaths, flagged by statutory authorities such as the Lokayukta. It also cites recommendations of the Karnataka Administrative Reforms Commission, which called for stricter regulation of private practice to ensure priority to public service. Similar restrictions in states like Kerala, where private practice is limited to OPD services under strict conditions, were also highlighted.

As per the clarification, government doctors are now permitted to undertake private practice only for OPD cases, outside official duty hours, and at only one private clinic or hospital, details of which must be declared to the government. Any violation will be treated as misconduct and invite disciplinary action under the Karnataka Civil Services Rules. The order comes into effect immediately.

CABINET RESHUFFLE DELAY

Congress workers miffed as board, corporation chiefs likely to continue

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

Congress workers are unhappy with the party-run state government on Wednesday signalling a status quo in key political appointments, announcing that the incumbent chairmen and members of boards and corporations will continue until further notice, sources said.

Many Congress workers who were patiently waiting after they were ignored in the previous round said they would take it up with the party leadership.

Sources said the decision is closely linked to the Congress leadership in the state failing to secure clearance from the party's central leadership for a cabinet reshuffle. The government treading cautiously to avoid triggering internal unrest.

There had been serious discussions within the government about inducting eight to ten new faces into the Cabinet – dropping an equal number of underperforming ministers – especially as the government has crossed the halfway mark of its term. However, with the prospect of the return of the two dropped ministers – KN Rajanna and B Nagendra – appearing dim, the leadership was reportedly considering bringing in at least two new ministers in their place, the sources said.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, they said, had pushed for a reshuffle before the presentation of the State Budget, but the party high command is yet to give permission. "The same team is likely to continue at least till May or June," a senior member of the party said without wishing to be named.

The decision to retain the incumbent chairmen of boards and corporations is also being driven by political caution, the sources said, adding that there is a fear that replacing them, without a cabinet reshuffle, could turn outgoing chairmen into strong ministerial aspirants. "If they are not accommodated in the ministry, there is apprehension that they could turn rebellious," a source said.

The Congress might accommodate many of those upset in the upcoming ZPTP polls in the upcoming civic polls, they said. For now, the government appears to be opting for stability over confrontation, even as speculation around a cabinet reshuffle continues to simmer within the ruling party.

Trade union leader, labour veteran Anantha Subbarao dies at 84

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

VETERAN trade union leader and long-time CPI functionary HV Anantha Subbarao (84), one of the tallest leaders of the labour movement in Karnataka, passed away on Wednesday following health complications. He was a prominent voice of the working class for over five decades.

Subbarao entered the trade union movement in the 1960s, inspired by Marxism and communism. He began his public life as an employee leader and went on to play a key role in leading the LIC Employees' Union. He also contested Assembly elections on the party's ticket. He served as the longest-serving General Secretary of the All India Trade Union Congress (AITUC) in Karnataka. During his tenure, AITUC expanded its organisational base into new and emerging segments of the workforce, including scheme workers and public transport employees. He also led several major industrial unions, including those representing workers of ITC and Mico Bosch. For more than 50 years, he worked tirelessly among employees of the state transport corporations and led the KSRTC Staff and Workers' Federation through multiple phases of agitation and negotiation. He became the public face of transport workers' struggles in the state and was jailed on several occasions during strikes.

He served as president of the AITUC Karnataka committee until January 2026, when he stepped down from the post.

"His commitment to the working class will be deeply missed," AITUC said. The 'Bengaluru Chalo' protest by Joint Action Committee, which was to be led by Subbarao on Thursday, stands postponed. The mortal remains of Rao will be be kept at the State Office of the CPI, Ghate Bhavan, GD Park Extension, Vyalikaval, from 11 am to 4 pm on Thursday for public to pay respects. His family has decided to donate his body to NIMHANS as per his wish. "A fighter who led several movements for over four decades, he was personally close to me. His tireless spirit of struggle and ideological commitment were a model for activists. His demise is an irreparable loss to society, especially to the working class. I pray that his soul rests in peace," Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said.

"A long-time labour activist, he led workers' movements for four decades. I pray that his soul attains eternal peace and that God gives strength to his family and admirers to bear this loss," HD Kumaraswamy, Union Minister for Heavy Industries said.

The private bus on fire near Ripponpet in Shivamogga district on Wednesday

36 injured in bus fire in Hosanagara

Shivamogga: At least 35 passengers escaped with minor injuries while another person was reportedly in a serious condition after a private bus in which they were travelling caught fire near Suduru village in Hosanagara taluk in the early hours of Wednesday, police said. The bus was heading to Bengaluru from Nagara in Hosanagara taluk. The fire broke out shortly after the bus began its journey. The police said smoke was first noticed inside the bus and a few minutes later, it went up in flames. Acting swiftly, the driver rammed the vehicle into a roadside tree to bring it to a halt so that passengers could escape. Twelve of the injured passengers were shifted to McGann Hospital in Shivamogga, while the remaining victims were admitted to a hospital at Ripponpet. All of them except one are reported to be out of danger. Firefighters and Ripponpet police rushed to the spot and extinguished the blaze, but the vehicle was completely destroyed. The cause of the fire is yet to be ascertained. An RTO team also visited the spot. Ripponpet police have registered a case. Local MP BY Raghavendra wished the injured a speedy recovery. ENS

EX-JUDGE TO MEDIATE IN 120-YR-OLD TEMPLE ROW

AGENCIES @New Delhi

IN a significant move to resolve one of the longest-running religious disputes, the Supreme Court on Wednesday appointed former judge Sanjay Kishan Kaul as principal mediator to settle the 120-year-old conflict between two sects of Sri Vaishnavas over performance of rituals at historic Sri Devarajaswamy Temple at Kanchipuram in Tamil Nadu.

A bench comprising Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi was hearing an appeal of S Narayanan challenging a Madras High Court verdict that dismissed a petition seeking permission for the Vadakalai sect to recite prayers inside the sanctum sanctorum of the temple.

The dispute pertains to ritual recitals within the temple, where historically the Thenkalai sect has been performing prayers. The petitioners contended that members of the Vadakalai sect were being unlawfully denied the right to participate in the rituals, despite being recognised as a religious denomination.

"Learned senior counsels have gracefully agreed to mediation so that the day-to-day rituals can be performed in an amicable manner. In this regard, we request Mr Sanjay Kishan Kaul, former judge of this court, who was the Chief Justice of Madras High Court also, to act as the principal mediator. Justice Kaul may associate two more persons of his choice who are well conversant in Tamil and Sanskrit languages, rituals and the religious history of the temple," the CJI said in the order after both parties agreed to go for mediation for amicable resolution of the dispute. The bench has now fixed the plea for consideration on March 13. In December last year, a division bench of the Madras High Court upheld the exclusive rights of the Thengalai community to perform the Adhiapaka Mirasi (official ceremonial worship) at the temple.

The High Court had dismissed challenges raised by Vadagalai members seeking to recite their own mantram and prabandham during ceremonial worship, holding that such attempts would violate settled judicial decrees and disturb public order.

SC notice to TN on plea seeking action against protests targeting justice

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Wednesday issued notice to Tamil Nadu govt and other state authorities, and sought their detailed responses, after hearing a PIL filed by advocate GS Mani, vice-president of the state BJP legal cell, seeking action against protestors who allegedly made caste and religion-based defamatory remarks against Justice GR Swaminathan of the Madras High Court for his order. Justice Swaminathan allowed the lighting of 'Karthigai Deepam' oil lamp on the Thirupparankundram hill in Madurai. The PIL alleged that after Justice Swaminathan's judicial orders, protests were organised in which the judge was subjected to personal, caste and religion-based allegations, including accusations of bias. A bench comprising justices Aravind Kumar and PB Varale issued notices to the state government, Director General of Police, Chennai Commissioner of Police. The top court also directed the state government to file a status report and posted the case for further hearing to February 2. The petitoner, Mani sought directions from the top court to the state authorities to initiate criminal proceedings against the responsible. ENS

'88% voters dropped under SIR not given notice'

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @New Delhi

THE Tamil Nadu government on Wednesday told the Supreme Court that 88% of voters excluded from the draft electoral rolls during the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) exercise in the state under 'logical discrepancies in voter mapping' had not received hearing notices.

Senior lawyer Kapil Sibal, appearing for the state, told a bench headed by Chief Justice of India Surya Kant, "Notices have been generated only for 18 lakh people. There is a gap of 88%. These people have not received notices. The phase is ending on January 30. If a hearing is delayed, the situation would become fait accompli."

When Sibal alleged mass deletions of names from the voter list, the top court said, "Additions and deletions are part of the electoral roll revision exercise undertaken by the Election Commission."

Delving into the issue of admissibility of Aadhaar card as one of the proofs, the top court pointed out that the possibility of forgery cannot be a ground to reject the 12-digit biometric identifier.

The court also told the ECI that if a document is recognised by a statute, it cannot be discarded merely because a private entity is involved in its issuance.

"Who decides if I am a citizen of India? It is the Government of India, not the Election Commission," Sibal pointed out and added that the electoral registration officers (EROs) cannot effectively decide citizenship while processing objections or deletions under Form 7.

Kerala MLA Rahul walks out of jail after 18 days

Pathanamthitta: After spending 18 days behind bars, Palakkad MLA Rahul Mamkootathil walked out of Mavelikkara sub-jail on Wednesday after the Pathanamthitta Sessions Court granted him bail in the third sexual assault case filed on the complaint of a Malayali woman residing abroad. In the 18-page bail order, Sessions Judge N Harikumar said, "The arrest of the petitioner (Rahul) did not strictly comply with the mandatory requirements under CrPC Section 50 (Section 47 of BNSS)," which is related to the essential safeguards for the personal liberty of the accused. The court had deferred its verdict on Rahul's bail plea after the defence raised doubts over the authenticity of the digital evidence. At the hearing, the defence argued that the relationship between the MLA and the complainant was consensual. ENS

FIR filed against Ranveer over Kantara Daiva mimicry

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE High Grounds police have registered an FIR against Bollywood actor Ranveer Singh on Wednesday for allegedly hurting religious sentiments by mocking a sacred Daiva tradition during a public event.

The FIR was registered after a city-based advocate, Prashanth Methal, filed a private complaint before the 1st Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate (ACJM) Court. According to the complainant, the incident occurred on November 28, 2025, during the closing ceremony of the International Film Festival of India (IFFI) held in Goa.

During the event, Singh allegedly mocked the sacred Daiva tradition on stage by imitating the divine expressions of Panjurli Daiva. The actor is also accused of verbally referring to Daiva as a "female ghost".

The complainant asserted that Daiva is not a ghost but a powerful guardian spirit symbolising justice, protection, and divine feminine energy, and holds deep religious and cultural significance in coastal Karnataka. Referring to the deity as a ghost was described as blasphemous and a serious insult to Hindu religious beliefs and practices. The video of the performance went viral on social media, causing mental agony, anger, and resentment among devotees.

Police have registered an FIR against Singh under Sections 196, 299, and 302.

Lok Bhavan slams Speaker's 'leaked letter' allegation

T'Puram: THE tussle between the Kerala Chief Minister and the Governor over the latter omitting certain portions of the policy address has taken a new turn with the LokBhavan taking objection to Speaker AN Shamseer's remark that a "confidential" letter from Rajendra Arlekar, seeking video visuals of the speech, was leaked to the media. The Lok Bhavan slammed both the allegation and the speaker's decision to raise it at a press conference, saying constitutional decorum bars public replies to official correspondence from the state's constitutional head. TNIE had reported on Monday that the governor's direction to the speaker was the precursor to a move to ensure that only the address actually delivered is retained in the assembly records. ENS

'100 stray dogs killed in T'gana, toll now 1.2k'

Hyderabad: Nearly 100 stray dogs were allegedly killed in Nagarkurnool district of Telangana, taking the toll to 1,200 in the state since December 2025, animal rights activists claimed. A FIR was registered in connection with the latest incident of alleged culling of canines, against three people including the son of a village panchayat president, police said on Wednesday. Animal welfare activist M Preethi said that the dogs were killed 10 days ago by administering injections by hiring dog killers for Rs 18,000 and the carcasses were buried two kms away from the village. ENS

Nurse injects sedatives to murder parents

Hyderabad: A 25-year-old nurse has been arrested for allegedly killing her parents by administering sedative injections, in Yacharam village of Bantwaram mandal in Vikarabad district. The accused, Nakkala Surekha, is accused of injecting her mother Lakshmi (54) and father Dasarath (58) with an overdose of a sedative drug, Artacil, leading to their deaths. Police said Surekha worked as a nurse at a private hospital and had access to injectable medication and the knowledge to administer it. ENS

Decision on Tulu as 2nd official language soon: Min

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government is keen on declaring Tulu as the additional official language, Kannada and Culture Minister Shivaraj Tangadagi said. A meeting will soon be chaired by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to discuss the proposal, he said.

"We have written a letter to West Bengal which has made some provision for other languages as additional official state language. A team from Karnataka visited Andhra Pradesh, which has made Urdu the second state language. We will call for a meeting, and invite all MLAs from the Tulu speaking region," he said.

The minister was replying to Puttur MLA Ashok Kumar Rai who had earlier said Tulu has over 3,000 years of history, has a script and is also recognised by Google for translation. In Germany and France, there is provision to study Tulu. Universities allow writing of exams in Tulu medium. "In some states, there are three to four official languages. Every legislative session, I ask the same question about making Tulu the second official language of the state. There are no financial implications, so when will this be implemented?" he questioned.

INDIA-EU PACT OPENS WINDOW TO ENDING U.S. TRADE HEGEMONY

AFTER negotiations stretching almost two decades, India has finally inked a far-reaching trade pact with the European Union. Ironically, both sides have Donald Trump's fickle tariffs to thank for this belated sense of urgency.

It's not without reason the free trade agreement is spoken of as the 'mother of all deals'—it not only covers a quarter of the world's population, but also accounts for a third of global trade. The EU is already India's largest partner, with trade between the two touching $142 billion in 2024, nearly an eighth of India's total. The number is poised to surge once the FTA is ratified by both sides, a process that's likely to take more than a year.

What's in hand is an agreement to remove or reduce tariffs covering 99 percent of the goods traded between the two. Indian exporters in labour-intensive sectors such as textiles, leather, jewellery and chemicals—who have faced 50 percent duties from the US—will have duty-free access to the 27 EU nations. The EU's exports to India are expected more than double. Indian elites will benefit from a cut on duties on European cars from 110 percent to 40 percent, and a phased reduction on spirits currently taxed at 100 percent. Tariff cuts on high-end machinery should help local manufacturers.

The EU deal leaves much of the Indian farm sector untouched, a stumbling block in the stalled India-US trade talks. While American corn, soya bean and cotton can pose a threat to Indian farmers, high-value EU agri-products like olive oil, processed meat and cheese would not be as price-competitive.

Negotiations for the India-EU deal, which started in 2007, were called off in 2013-14, only to be resumed in 2022. The increasing US tariff pains pushed them to a rapid conclusion in recent months. The EU's urgency is also evident in its push to close another deal with the Mercosur bloc comprising four South American nations, which has been in the works for a quarter century. Meanwhile, India signed deals with the UK, Oman and New Zealand in the second half of 2025. This is the way to go. The world is learning that the only way to end the US's hegemony as the largest market is to forge more regional and multilateral pacts.

PAWAR LOSS LEAVES PARTY, FAMILY UNITY UP IN THE AIR

THE shocking demise of Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar, 66, in a plane crash brought the glare back on the muddled civil aviation sector that is yet to recover from last year's Dreamliner accident that killed over 270 people in Ahmedabad. Ajit's Learjet 45, hired from VSR Corp, took off from Mumbai around 8.10 am and disappeared from the radar about 35 minutes later while attempting to land at Baramati, his political stomping ground. After a missed approach for touchdown amid poor visibility, the flight with five persons aboard, including the crew, crashed in a ball of fire on its second attempt to land. Why the experienced pilots chose to land despite struggling to see the airstrip remains a mystery. Only a quick, transparent and thorough probe can ensure accountability and closure for the bereaved families.

This was the second major accident involving VSR's Learjet 45; the first one was in 2023. Ajit became the seventh prominent politician to die in an air crash after Sanjay Gandhi, Madhavrao Scindia, G M C Balayogi, Y S Rajasekhara Reddy, Mohan Kumaramangalam and Vijay Rupani.

Ajit's tragic departure leaves a huge void that is not easy to fill in the state, party and family. History will remember him as a powerful, earthy, in-your-face neta who had a strong grip over his party cadre and no filters when it came to pursuing power. He represented Baramati in the state assembly seven times since 1991, five of them on the trot. For party workers, he was their dada (brother). Known to be an efficient administrator, his run-ins with upright officers and allegations of corruption failed to dent his standing among followers and voters. Ajit revolted twice against uncle Sharad Pawar's leadership of the Nationalist Congress Party, joined forces with the BJP, and openly spoke about his ambition to become chief minister. He also had no qualms in nudging Sharad Pawar, 85, to retire from active politics and hand over the party's reins to him. In the end, the uncle outlived the nephew.

Ideology for him was a subservient tool. Yet, Ajit did not sacrifice his party's Mumbai unit head Nawab Malik when the BJP demanded his purge. Of late, he was engineering a rapprochement between the two NCP factions to become its eventual head, but fate willed otherwise.

QUICK TAKE

A SYMBOL VIOLATED

THE Gaza 'peace plan' Donald Trump trumpeted through the last three months of 2025 lies in tatters in the new year as Israel continues to pound Gaza and Zionist settlers heighten daily attacks on Palestinian residents and properties in the Occupied West Bank. Meanwhile, the Databases for Palestine archive shows that almost half the 333 journalists killed by Israel over the past 845 days were targeted at home. Perhaps nothing signifies the irony of violence in West Asia more poignantly than olive trees, a symbol of civilisational pride to Palestinians and of peace to the world, which settlers have been recorded destroying by hundreds in recent days. It reflects the sorry state of the United Nations, whose logo is a world protected by olive branches.

If the New START lapses on February 4, there will be no pact limiting the American and Russian nuclear forces for the first time since the early 1970s

ABANDONING RESTRAINT WHEN WORLD IS ON EDGE

M K BHADRAKUMAR
Former diplomat

MANDAR PARDIKAR

THE war in Ukraine is certain to be a definitive event for the coming one-year period—both directly and in terms of its fallouts. A combination of 'fortuitous' circumstances strengthens the Russian position significantly through the first month of the new year, and puts it in a sort of 'win-win' situation. Moscow did not orchestrate such circumstances, but wouldn't lose the opportunity to calibrate its positioning either. Private channels are buzzing.

First of all, the Kremlin and the White House are in unison that what they were striving to put together on parallel tracks—a format for the first-ever security talks between Russia and Ukraine with the participation of American representatives, and the far more challenging roadmap to improve the wider aspects of the Russian-American relationship—should not get derailed.

Both Russia and the US have lobbies who disfavour or oppose rapprochement. But what distinguishes the present times is that Donald Trump and Vladimir Putin have much in common. Both are Great-Power statists, and rational self-interest is not the only motive for their action, as Max Weber once put it long ago. Both are conservative politicians and subscribe to a 'besieged fortress' mentality. Putin, the friendly, cooperative spymaster with nerves of steel, has chosen the route to intensify his engagement with Trump in a pragmatic decision.

But the clock is ticking and only a week is left for the expiry of the New START (Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty) on February 4. Lapse of the 2011 treaty would mean all bets are off in the trajectory of Russia-US relations—as, for the first time since the early 1970s, there will be no legally binding limits in US and Russian strategic nuclear forces. Putin's September 22, 2025 initiative—formally proposing a one-year voluntary extension of New START's central limits—is lying on Trump's desk awaiting response.

Possibly, Trump prefers to accelerate the US's advanced missile defence capabilities under the Golden Dome programme, which has the robust backing of the military-industrial complex, and a timely reminder that 'nuclear superiority' continues to be an American dream. The spectre that is haunting international security is a rapid and dangerous slide to an unconstrained environment in a time of heightened geopolitical rivalry.

Putin has alternative methods to counter the US pressure—for example, by developing strategic assets against which the US is defenceless, such as the hypersonic Oreshnik missile with its immense destructive power, or the low-flying, nuclear-powered, nuclear-armed cruise missile Burevestnik (under development), and the Poseidon, also nuclear-powered and 'autonomous' unmanned underwater vehicle carrying nuclear or conventional warheads designed to strike coastal targets with devastating tsunami-inducing potential. Make no mistake, Russia will not compromise on the big picture of strategic balance.

Putin's distinct preference is to avoid a new arms race in an environment that will make intentions harder to read and crises harder to manage. He would rather concentrate on his hugely ambitious project to build on the phenomenal success he has achieved through the past quarter century to rebuild his country that was on its back. Today, Russia's economy is doing better than most Western ones, and Putin would rather finish the Ukraine war and work on a new phase of nation-building anchored on a decent relationship with the US, which, he is convinced, is possible during the Trump presidency.

However, the big question remains: can Trump deliver? A telling example would be returning the Russian diplomatic properties in the US that Barack Obama confiscated when he was left with just a fortnight to retire in January 1996, conniving with a vicious plot by the American Deep State to complicate ties with Russia. Michael Flynn, the national security advisor designate for the incoming presidency, telephoned the Russian ambassador and prevailed upon him not to retaliate as Trump intended to reverse Obama's decision. Trump completed his first term in 2021 and is now in the second year of his second presidency, but hasn't been able to return the properties to the Russians. He doesn't even want to talk about it.

Putin's spokesman Dmitry Peskov remarked last week, "Trump is an experienced politician, one who bases his approaches on the principles of harsh, ruthless business, and he defends his interests first and foremost, and the interests of his country. The methods he uses do not quite correspond with our approach to a multi-polar world. Trump is still a proponent of bringing everyone to their knees, of solving everything through force. He says he uses force to make his decisions. In our view, he bends others to his will. And those who bend will continue to bend. The main thing is not to do this ourselves."

Are these flattering words sufficient enough? But then, in life, most things are on relative terms. What matters to the Russians is that Europeans, the most loyal vassal states Americans ever had, have been put in their place by Trump, and Nato's destiny hangs by a thread. Volodymyr Zelenskyy has reportedly been told that all he has got is the security track at Abu Dhabi and he cannot expect Europeans to bail him out anymore.

Meanwhile, Russians and Americans are working through private channels on improving the wider aspects of the relationship between their two countries. The rollback in aggressive rhetoric in Trump's remarks at Davos regarding Greenland shows that he will avoid a forceful scenario for now. Acting like a pragmatist, he's able to change his tune in a characteristic manner.

On the other hand, Trump's rhetoric toward Russia has not changed. He's sticking to diplomacy, but is also trying to demonstrate that there are issues on the international agenda other than the Ukrainian conflict. The Pentagon's National Defence Strategy released on January 23 mentioned Russia as a "persistent but manageable threat to Nato's eastern members in the near future" and expects Russia to retain its military and production capabilities, as well as the ability to modernise its nuclear missile capabilities.

But the document also emphasises that the 'European Nato' surpasses Russia in economic and military potential, as well as in population. Interestingly, it envisions a specific scenario that European allies are capable of assuming the bulk of the responsibility for regional security with "important but limited support" from Washington.

A BROADER VIEW OF EDU BUDGET

MAMIDALA JAGADESH KUMAR
Former Chairman, UGC and former Vice Chancellor, JNU

WHEN the Union Budget is presented every year, we hear a familiar argument: education is underfunded. We all agree on one point: education is the best long-term investment a nation can make. But in these debates, some focus only on the ministry of education (MoE) and ignore funding in education and research that comes through multiple ministries, mission agencies, and research and development institutions.

To keep our discussion balanced, we must therefore focus on the ecosystem as a whole and the direction we have set for ourselves as a nation through steady budgetary allocations for school education, higher education and research capacity, aligned with the National Education Policy, 2020 goals of access, equity, quality and excellence.

Human capital and knowledge creation emanate from across general education, health, agriculture, defence, atomic energy, space, science and technology, and skilling. Budget support also flows through large national missions, scholarship pipelines, institutional grants and research funding structures. We must underline that this support is not provided solely by MoE. Multiple ministries are involved in building a future-ready workforce and a strong research base.

Let us start with the most visible indicator: the MoE allocation itself. In 2024-25, the MoE was allocated ₹1,20,628 crore, which rose to ₹1,28,650 crore in 2025-26. Within this, school education gets the largest share and rightly so. In 2024-25, the department of school education and literacy received ₹73,008 crore, rising in 2025-26 to ₹78,572 crore.

Flagship programmes receive sustained support. For instance, the Samagra Shiksha Abhiyan received ₹41,250 crore in 2025-26, and PM Poshan was funded at ₹12,500 crore. These schemes support foundational learning, teacher capacity, school infrastructure and inclusion. They directly inform retention, learning outcomes and equity, especially for rural children and students from socio-economically weaker sections.

Let's now look at higher education. In 2025-26, the MoE department of higher education was allocated ₹50,078 crore. Out of this, the share for central universities was ₹16,691 crore, and for IITs ₹11,349 crore. This funding supports capacity, laboratories, faculty positions and student services in nationally important institutions and central universities. Importantly, the Budget also backs state universities through PM-Usha, which focuses on upgrading teaching, research facilities and student support.

But funding alone does not result in outcomes. What is required is better execution capacity. We must also focus on implementation, state-level absorption and institutional governance.

Funding through sectoral systems is a common practice in modern economies. Medical education and healthcare training involve large central institutions and public health systems. Agriculture education and research are vital for food security and rural livelihoods. There are dedicated institutions for defence education, strategy and advanced technology training. Space and atomic energy maintain world-class scientific establishments that train and employ thousands of researchers and engineers. So, to answer 'How much does India spend on education and research?', we must take a holistic view including these diverse channels.

AFP

While debating funding, we tend to focus only on the ministry of education's budget allotment. But knowledge creation is supported by multiple ministries, missions and R&D institutions. And funding alone does not ensure outcomes. We must also focus on implementation, state-level absorption and institutional governance

The department of science and technology's (DST) budget for 2025-26 is ₹28,508.90 crore. This allocation includes a major push through the Research, Development and Innovation scheme, a deliberate effort to crowd in private R&D and accelerate lab-to-market innovation in priority sectors.

The department of atomic energy has a gross outlay of ₹37,482.93 crore for 2025-26. Beyond power projects and strategic programmes, the department supports research training, specialised higher education institutions and research boards. All these funding channels also support higher education and research funding, even when they do not fall under the MoE.

Another incomplete habit in public debate is treating 'research funding' as if it were only about one grant programme. In reality, capacity grows when the country funds researchers, labs and infrastructure, mission programmes, translation mechanisms and predictable institutions.

The Anusandhan National Research Foundation (ANRF) is one such institutionalised mechanism. ANRF, allotted ₹966 crore in 2024-25, is for building a national-level funding and coordination capability. It aims for industry partnerships, competitiveness and inclusive participation. Similarly, the DST funds modern, high-impact programmes such as cyber-physical systems, quantum mission and supercomputing. These areas define India's competitiveness in the AI age.

For the country, funding education and research ecosystems is aimed at building economic and strategic capability. When higher education improves employability, India gets a stronger workforce. Increasing research funding can increase patent filings, improve industrial processes, develop stronger health technologies and deliver climate-resilient solutions.

The message from recent budget announcements is clear. India is funding education and research through multiple ministries. MoE funds schools, universities, scholarships, and research; DST and the national missions fund frontier R&D and translation mechanisms, including significant provisions such as the RDI scheme; DAE and strategic science establishments focus on deep research and advanced training ecosystems; and ANRF stands as a national research-funding pillar.

Therefore, the question we should ask is not what India is spending on education and research, but whether we are spending smartly so that Viksit Bharat 2047 becomes a practical goal.

We witnessed the benefits delivered to the common man by the first few Five-Year Plans. The leaders of an independent India never bragged about growth. However, in order to create a 'progressive developmental' image, the present government has created myths of GDP numbers rather than actually alleviating the poor. Investors look at solid indicators before committing capital and they see through the gaps. No wonder we remain in the bottom folds of the per-capita income rankings.

Prez talks about VB-G RAM G, Oppn livid

Murmu says the Act will ensure 125 days of work, while Cong's Kharge and Rahul demand immediate 'roll back'

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

PRESIDENT Droupadi Murmu on Wednesday urged parliamentarians to stand united on the resolve for Viksit Bharat campaign for swadeshi as well as national security, even as her reference to the Viksit Bharat — Guarantee for Rozgar and Ajeevika Mission (Gramin) [VB-G RAM G] Act, sparked sloganeering and protests from the opposition parties.

Addressing a joint sitting of both the Houses of Parliament, which marked the start of the Budget session, the President said the government is moving ahead on the path of the 'Reforms Express', with outdated rules and provisions being continuously updated to meet future needs. She mentioned Next-Gen GST reforms and revamping of the Income Tax law.

The President said the world saw the valour of Indian armed forces through Operation Sindoor when they destroyed terror camps on the strength of their own resources and asserted that any terror act will be responded with decisive action. India has proved that power can be used with responsibility and wisdom, she said.

Highlighting the government's achievements in various sectors including railways, roads, agriculture and other key sectors, Murmu said that the government is fully committed to social justice in its true sense.

President Droupadi Murmu; Cong leaders Rahul Gandhi and Mallikarjun Kharge| PTI

At the beginning, when Murmu stood up to deliver the address, Opposition MPs including Leader of Opposition in both Houses Rahul Gandhi and Mallikarjun Kharge were on their feet raising slogans demanding a roll back of the law. While the protest lasted for a minute, the Opposition raised slogans once again when the President said the VB-G RAM G Act would provide guarantee for 125 days of work, and would also stop corruption and leakages. She also asserted that it would provide a new impetus to rural development. Murmu paused during her address as the opposition raised slogans like 'roll back the Act'. However, it was welcomed by treasury benches by thumping of desks.

The decision to protest against the new Act was taken at the meeting of the INDIA bloc leaders in the morning. The Act is set to replace the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA).

Invoking the names of prominent parliamentarians and leaders of the past, the President asserted that Members of Parliament should remain united on national issues despite differing opinions and viewpoints in a democracy., "Amid different opinions and diverse viewpoints, there has been unanimity about nothing being greater than the nation. Venerable Mahatma Gandhi, Nehru, Babasaheb, Sardar Patel, JP, Lohia, Pandit Deendayal Upadhyaya, Atal have all shared the belief that differences of opinion on issues are natural in democracy, but there are certain subjects which are beyond all differences. The resolve of Viksit Bharat, the security of India, Atmanirbharata, the campaign for Swadeshi, efforts toward national unity, Swachhata, and on all such matters concerning the nation, the Parliamentarians must stand united", she said. She described such unity among members on national issues as the true spirit of the Constitution," she said.

Further, the President hailed the signing of a free trade agreement with the European Union, saying it will give impetus to the manufacturing and service sectors and create new employment opportunities for the country's youth.

Over the last 11 years, she said, the economic foundation of the country has grown significantly stronger and despite various global crises, India has remained the fastest-growing major economy in the world. The President also outlined the government's commitment to youth and women empowerment, highlighting various schemes and initiatives undertaken for their development.

16 hours for debate on Prez address in RS

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE government has allotted 16 hours in the Rajya Sabha for discussion on the Motion of Thanks to the President's address to the joint session of Parliament. The decision was taken at a meeting of the Business Advisory Committee (BAC) of the RS on Wednesday.

Sources said the Rajya Sabha will take up the discussion from February 2, with members likely to debate the motion for about four hours each day.

Meanwhile, the BAC of the Lok Sabha is scheduled to meet on Thursday at 12.30 pm to decide the time allocation for discussion on the Motion of Thanks to the President's address as well as the general discussion on the Union Budget for 2026–27. The committee will also consider any other business with the permission of the Chair, according to the agenda. At an all-party meeting held on Tuesday, the opposition parties demanded structured discussions on a range of issues, including restoration of MGNREGA, ongoing SIR of poll rolls, and the UGC controversy.

Jaishankar heads to US for crucial meeting, talks hosted by Rubio next wk

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

AGAINST the backdrop of the ongoing tariff tussle and trade negotiations between India and the United States, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar is set to travel to Washington next week to attend the Critical Minerals Ministerial meeting on February 4, in a visit seen as an effort to steady bilateral ties.

The meeting will be hosted by US Secretary of State Marco Rubio. Jaishankar is also scheduled to hold bilateral discussions with him on the margins.

The visit comes at a sensitive moment in India–US relations, marked by differences over market access and tariffs, even as both sides continue to negotiate a long-pending bilateral trade agreement. Multiple rounds of talks held last year failed to yield a breakthrough, largely due to Washington's demand for greater access to India's farm and dairy sectors.

The trip also follows India's recent conclusion of a free trade agreement with the European Union, reflecting New Delhi's parallel push to diversify trade partnerships amid uncertainty in its largest strategic relationship. Jaishankar's engagement with Rubio builds on their January 13 phone conversation, during which the two leaders discussed trade negotiations and prospects for expanding cooperation in the civil nuclear sector. US Ambassador to India Sergio Gor later indicated that both sides were working towards an in-person meeting in February, signalling a desire to keep diplomatic channels active despite economic frictions.

A major development expected during the visit is India's entry into the US-led Pax Silica initiative, an economic security partnership aimed at securing critical technology supply chains, including critical minerals, semiconductors, artificial intelligence and advanced manufacturing. Current members include the United Kingdom, Japan, Israel and Australia. India's decision to join is being viewed as a strategic signal of alignment with US-led frameworks on supply chain resilience and technology security.

NEW REGULATIONS

Pollution control norms streamlined for better environment compliance

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE Union Government has streamlined regulations related to air and water pollution control to promote industrialisation throughout the country. These changes will allow industries to operate without the need for regular license renewals and reduce the approval time for establishing new industries, even those in the most polluting categories.

In another reform, the government has exempted the establishment of common effluent treatment plants (CETPs) from environmental clearance requirements.

The new notification aims to minimise procedural delays, ensuring faster, clearer, and more efficient approval processes while maintaining environmental safeguards. The processing time for granting consent to operate Red Category industries has been reduced from 120 to 90 days.

The government has amended the Uniform Consent Guidelines under the Air (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1981, and the Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1974, to further streamline the consent mechanism for industries across all states and Union Territories (UTs). This amendment removes uncertainty and disruption to operations caused by delays in renewing Consent to Operate (CTO).

A key change includes the validity of CTOs. Under the amended guidelines, once granted, a CTO will remain valid until it is cancelled.

For MSME units, Consent to Establish is deemed granted upon the submission of a self-certified application as the land has already been assessed

Norms notified to skip test licences for R&D to boost pharma research

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

TO reduce regulatory burden and promote ease of doing business, the Centre has amended the New Drugs and Clinical Trials (NDCT) Rules, 2019, with the aim to boost pharmaceutical research and innovation.

The Union Health Ministry notified the key amendment with the aim to simplify regulatory process, reducing approval timelines and enabling faster conduct of clinical research and pharmaceutical development in the country.

Under the new regulations, pharmaceutical companies are no longer required to obtain a test licence for manufacturing drugs in small quantities for research and analysis, provided they submit an online intimation to the Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation (CDSCO), except in certain cases.

The amendment is in line with the directions of PM Narendra Modi to reduce regulatory burden and promote ease of doing business, the ministry said in a statement.

Under the existing regulatory framework, pharmaceutical companies are required to obtain a test licence from the CDSCO for manufacturing drugs in small quantities intended for examination or research.

This shift from a licensing requirement to a prior-intimation mechanism applies to non-commercial manufacture. However, a limited category of high-risk drugs, including cytotoxic drugs, narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, will still require formal licences.

This reform, the ministry said, will save at least 90 days in the drug development life cycle, providing a significant boost to pharmaceutical research and innovation.

For categories where test licences continue to be applicable, the statutory processing timeline has been halved from 90 days to 45 days.

China expands def footprint in B'desh with UAV factory

JAVARIA RANA @ New Delhi

AMID strained relations with India, Bangladesh has signed a government-to-government agreement with China. Under the deal, the Bangladesh Air Force (BAF) and China Electronics Technology Group Corporation (CETC) will jointly set up a UAV production and assembly facility in Bangladesh.

According to a statement on the BAF's official Facebook page on Tuesday, the agreement includes a full transfer of drone design and production technology, as well as training and capacity-building for Bangladeshi engineers. In its first phase, the facility will produce and assemble medium-altitude long-endurance (MALE) UAVs and vertical take-off-and-landing (VTOL) platforms.

The move comes as India-Bangladesh ties remain tense, with New Delhi concerned over Dhaka's growing defence links with China and Pakistan. Last week, Chinese Ambassador Yao Wen visited the long-delayed Teesta River development project near the "Chicken's Neck". Bangladesh's Chief Adviser Muhammad Yunus has previously described India's seven northeastern states as "landlocked" and positioned Bangladeshi ports as their "only guardian to the ocean".

The UAVs planned for production in Bangladesh are reported to be based on CETC's 'XY-I', a medium-altitude, long-endurance (MALE) drone for reconnaissance, surveillance, border patrol, electronic warfare and communications. Reportedly, the UAV is heavily inspired by the Turkish Bayraktar TB2.

The strategic importance of Bangladesh-China cooperation is highlighted by Lieutenant General Rahul R Singh's comments in July last year, when he said that during Operation Sindoor, China provided Pakistan with satellite-based intelligence on Indian deployments, with Pakistan acting as the "front face" of the operation.

The UAVs planned for production in Bangladesh are reported to be based on CETC's 'XY-I', a medium-altitude, long-endurance (MALE) drone for reconnaissance, surveillance, border patrol, electronic warfare and communications. Reportedly, the UAV is heavily inspired by the Turkish Bayraktar TB2 and claims to stay airborne for up to a day. The platform further also claims to support modular payloads, including electro-optical and infrared sensors, signals intelligence and jamming pods and weapons such as guided bombs or air-to-surface missiles.

Separately, Dhaka has expressed interest in buying up to 20 Chengdu J-10CE fighters in a deal worth around $2.2 billion. Earlier this month, the air force chiefs of Pakistan and Bangladesh also discussed a potential sale of Sino-Pakistani JF-17 Thunder fighters.

SC unhappy with steps taken by states in stray dog case, warns action

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday expressed serious concern over the management of stray dogs in India, noting that Assam alone reported 1.66 lakh dog bites in 2024, but has only one dog centre.

"It is astonishing. In 2024, there were 1.66 lakh bites. And in 2025 only in January, there were 20,900. This is shocking," the Court observed, while hearing the stray dogs case.

Several state governments submitted data on stray dog sterilisation and related measures. The Bench of Justices Vikram Nath, Sandeep Mehta, and NV Anjaria noted inadequate sterilisation, lack of dog pounds, and failure to remove dogs from institutional campuses. The hearing continues on Thursday.

The Court questioned Jharkhand's reported sterilisation of 1.6 lakh dogs in two months, suggesting figures may be inflated. West Bengal reported 12,000 sterilised dogs for 2024. The Court asked, "If a city has 1-2 lakh dogs and you vaccinate only 10-12,000 a year, how can you control the population?"

Additional Solicitor General SD Sanjay, for Delhi, said the Chief Secretary had filed a detailed affidavit. The Court noted that sterilising 68,000 dogs in eight months is insufficient for population control.

Amicus Curiae Siddharth Aggarwal said, "Now that the State and the corporation are in synergy, they can probably set up more centres."

The hearing addressed pleas to modify earlier orders. On August 22, the Court allowed stray dogs to be returned to their original areas after proper sterilisation and immunisation, barring rabid or aggressive animals, and prohibited feeding in public spaces. The order expanded the case beyond Delhi NCR.

ALSO IN TOP COURT

Plea on postal ballot for student voters

The Supreme Court on Wednesday agreed to examine a plea seeking direction to the Centre and the Election Commission to extend the postal ballot facility to student voters, especially electors enrolled in institutions outside their home constituencies. A bench sought response of the Centre and the EC in four weeks.

Manipur violence panel term extended

The Supreme Court on Wednesday extended till July 31 the tenure of the apex court-appointed Justice Gita Mittal committee set up to oversee relief and rehabilitation of the victims of ethnic violence in Manipur. A bench comprising CJI Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi extended the term.

No more 'under process', Centre tells officials

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE Centre has reminded its officials that elected representatives are not to be kept waiting or fobbed off with boilerplate replies that say much and mean little.

In a fresh set of consolidated guidelines, the Department of Personnel and Training (DoPT) has instructed ministries, departments, state governments and Union Territory administrations to follow "proper procedure" while dealing with communications from Members of Parliament and state legislators, warning against delays and familiar bureaucratic foot-dragging.

The guidelines underline that letters and representations from MPs and MLAs must be handled promptly and through the appropriate channel, with the DoPT making it explicit that "dilatory tactics" will not be tolerated. Delays in responding to such correspondence, the department has stressed, are unacceptable and undermine the spirit of democratic accountability.

Under the instructions, clear lines of responsibility have been laid down. If a communication from an MP is addressed to a minister, the reply must come from the minister concerned—no delegation downward. Letters from individuals who are not MPs, however, should be answered under the signature of an officer of secretary rank. Heads of attached or subordinate offices, public sector undertakings, financial institutions, including nationalised banks, and division or branch heads within ministries and departments have been told to reply personally to communications addressed to them.

The DoPT has also frowned upon the routine use of preprinted or standardised replies to MPs, reiterating that information sought by a member should ordinarily be supplied unless it is of such a nature that it would have been denied even if raised on the floor of Parliament. In other words, stock phrases and vague assurances are no substitute for substantive answers. Timelines, too, have been spelt out. Every communication from an MP, a member of the public, a recognised association or a public body—must be acknowledged within 15 days, followed by a substantive reply within the next 15 days, according to the guidelines. Where a request cannot be acceded to, the reasons must be conveyed "courteously", signalling that tone matters as much as content.

If a delay is unavoidable, officials are required to send an interim reply within 15 days, clearly indicating when a final response can be expected. Communications wrongly addressed to a department must be transferred to the appropriate division within five working days, with the sender informed of the transfer. The DoPT has also advised officials to look at requests from members of the public from the "user's point of view" rather than purely from what is administratively convenient. Reiterating a series of past circulars, it has warned that violations of these instructions will be viewed seriously. Any breach of the relevant Conduct Rules, once established, could invite disciplinary action.

No delegation: If a communication from an MP is addressed to a minister, reply must come from the minister concerned—no delegation downward

Personal replies: Heads of attached or subordinate offices have been told to reply personally to communications addressed to them

Only info: Stock phrases and vague assurances a no-go, members to get information as requested

Tone and timelines: Every communication from an elected representative to be acknowledged in 15 days, followed by a substantive reply within the next 15 days. Where a request has to be denied, reasons must be conveyed 'courteously'. In case of delay, officials to send interim reply in 15 days

User's POV: Officials asked to look at requests from a 'user's point of view' rather than administrative convenience

No breach: Any breach of the relevant Conduct Rules could invite disciplinary action

'DADA' LEAVES MAHA PAWAR VOID

NCP LEADER'S DEATH IN PLANE CRASH THROWS SPANNER IN THE WORKS AMID PARTY MERGER AND SUCCESSION TALKS

GREW IN THE SHADOW OF HIS UNCLE, WHO FOCUSED ON NATIONAL POLITICS WHILE HE HANDLED STATE-LEVEL AFFAIRS

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Pawars of Baramati pinned their political hopes on unity under Ajit Pawar. That hope was shattered when the NCP leader and Maharashtra's deputy chief minister lost his life in a plane crash on Wednesday morning, abruptly ending a transition meant to reshape both the party's future.

In recent weeks, the Pawar family quietly agreed to appoint Ajit Pawar as overall NCP leader, with Sharad Pawar planning to step back. Succession talks were nearing completion when fate intervened.

To understand why Ajit Pawar was central to this carefully crafted succession, it is essential to trace his political journey and the foundation on which his authority was built.

Ajit Pawar was born on July 22, 1959. He entered politics under the close tutelage of his uncle, Sharad Pawar, and was first elected to the Lok Sabha from the Baramati constituency. He later vacated this seat for his uncle, who went on to become the defence minister in the P V Narasimha Rao government.

Ajit Pawar quickly adopted his uncle's political style. He was disciplined and punctual, starting work at 6 am daily and expecting the same from others. Health-conscious and abstaining from alcohol and smoking, he walked four to five kilometres each morning. He made efficiency and development central to his politics.

Though a state-level leader, Baramati remained his emotional centre. The constituency had stood by him through victories and setbacks, electing him eight consecutive times with record margins.

On Tuesday, after attending a cabinet meeting, Pawar left for Baramati to address the Zilla Parishad election campaign planned for early Wednesday. The next morning, as his aircraft reached Baramati, poor visibility prevented the pilot from seeing the ground. The plane crashed and caught fire, resulting in Ajit 's death near the land that defined his political and emotional identity.

He was popularly called "Dada," a term that reflected authority mixed with affection. He had the ability to elevate grassroots workers into MLAs and MPs. His word carried weight across parties, and even senior leaders rarely challenged it. A well-read leader, Ajit had strong command over laws, rules, and procedures. He knew how systems worked and how they could be used for public welfare. He could not be misled by empty slogans or surface-level planning. This made him effective in administration and decisive in governance.

Ajit grew in the shadow of Sharad but never appeared uncomfortable there. While Sharad focused on national politics, Ajit handled state-level affairs. For nearly three decades, this division of responsibility worked smoothly. Sharad carefully distributed roles between his daughter, Supriya Sule, and his nephew to avoid conflict. Ajit remained rooted in Maharashtra politics, while Supriya pursued her national role.

Sharad consistently protected his nephew during political controversies, and Ajit never crossed the boundaries set by his uncle. Even while serving multiple terms as deputy chief minister, his uncle's word remained final. Though their ideas sometimes differed, mutual respect ensured cooperation in governance.

Ajit later aligned with the BJP and became deputy chief minister in a BJP-led government. Despite this alliance, he repeatedly asserted his commitment to secularism and progressive values. He publicly stated that he would never abandon the Shahu-Phule-Ambedkar ideological framework.

Over the years, Ajit Pawar took the oath as deputy chief minister eight times and openly aspired to become the chief minister of Maharashtra. Throughout his career, he made serious attempts, and age was in his favour. Nevertheless, political timing remained elusive. He served under several chief ministers, successfully adapting to various leadership styles. He possessed sharp political judgment and an instinctive ability to read situations. He remained connected with ordinary people.

He was no stranger to controversy. He faced allegations in the ₹70,000-crore irrigation scam during his tenure as Water Resources Minister. He maintained that these allegations were politically motivated and pointed out that those accusing him were also partners in power. He was also named in the MSCB loan case, which the Economic Offences Wing closed in early 2024 after finding no evidence. Despite controversies, public faith in his leadership endured.

His death does not threaten the Devendra Fadnavis government. The Mahayuti alliance holds 229 MLAs, well above the required majority of 145 in the 288-member assembly. The government remains stable.

But his death has created uncertainty among NCP factions. A leadership vacuum remains, with questions about whether Praful Patel, Sunil Tatkare, or Sunetra Pawar will take charge and how the BJP leadership may influence the party's future. Neither Supriya Sule nor Rohit Pawar currently appears ready to lead a unified NCP. The Pawar family must now regroup as Sharad Pawar is again compelled to shoulder the family's political future.

J'khand rebel leaders to Kharge: Ministers are not working for the party

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

AFTER five disgruntled party MLAs from Jharkhand met Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge on Friday to share their grievances, Pradesh Congress Committee president Keshav Mahato Kamlesh, and ministers from the Congress quota in the state government were called to Delhi for a meeting with the party's central leadership.

The disgruntled MLAs had complained that "the party ministers are not working as per their expectations". The meeting was held at Kharge's residence and focused on the party's political strategy and priorities in Jharkhand. It was attended by, apart from Kharge, Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi and party General Secretary (Organisation) KC Venugopal. Senior leaders deliberated on the current political situation in the state and chalked out future organisational and electoral strategies.

Grievances raised in meet

Sources said the meeting discussed the grievances raised by several Congress MLAs. Ministers were questioned regarding the complaints, particularly the "allegations of neglecting legislators and not giving due priority to their concerns."

Sources informed that the meeting discussed the grievances recently raised by several Congress MLAs. Ministers were questioned regarding the complaints, particularly "allegations of neglecting legislators and not giving due priority to their concerns." According to the disgruntled MLAs, the party's ministers are not working as expected.

Following the complaints, the party high command directed the state in-charge, K. Raju, to look into the matter and hold discussions with the concerned leaders.

15 IAS officers named Central poll observers

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

THE Election Commission of India (ECI) has appointed 15 IAS officers, including home secretary (HS) Jagdeesh Prasad Meena, and 10 IPS officers of West Bengal as Central election observers for the five poll-bound states, namely West Bengal, Assam, Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Puducherry.

The move marks an escalation in the ongoing face-off between the Mamata Banerjee government and the poll panel. It gains significance as the appointment of a home secretary of a poll-bound state as a Central poll observer outside their home state is a rare move.

The EC has asked the IAS and IPS officials concerned to join a two-day orientation programme scheduled to be held at India International Institute of Democracy and Election Management in presence of the Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar in Delhi on February 5 and 6.

Any officer who skips the programme will face stern disciplinary action.

Didi makes little promise for 'abandoned' Singur Nano unit

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

AHEAD of the upcoming state Assembly polls, West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee on Wednesday addressed a public meeting in Singur of Hooghly district and stressed the need for co-existence of both agriculture and industry in the state. She, however, did not make any announcement for a big industrial investment at the 1000-acre abandoned Tata Motors small car factory site.

Recently, PM Narendra Modi had also addressed a rally there but did not make any promise for setting up of a big industry at the land after the Tatas withdrew their nano car project and shifted it to Sanand in Gujarat in 2008 because of land movement backed by the Mamata Banerjee-led Trinamool Congress, Congress and BJP. Banerjee said both agriculture and industry would thrive together.

The CM reiterated her stand on the agriculture-industry dichotomy. She also said that the state would go ahead in terms of industrialisation and agricultural growth following the policy of co-existence of both industry and agriculture. Her government never supported forcible acquisition of fertile land in the name of industries, she added. Banerjee also announced development projects in the vicinity of the abandoned Tata Motors small car factory site.

An agro-industrial park worth about ₹9 crore rupees has come on a land of eight acres in Singur and 25 out 238 plots at the site have already been allotted, the CM said. Another private industrial park would also come up on a plot of 77 acres in the town. "As promised, I brought back people's land acquired by the then Left Front government," she said.

She also inaugurated 1,077 projects of around ₹5,694 crore from Singur. The state government also deposited the first instalment ₹60,000 to the accounts of 20 lakh beneficiaries.

BJP spokesperson Tarunjyoti Tiwari said, "She has announced the setting up of two industry parks in Singur. Can it be an alternative for big industries like Tata Motors that can generate employment for youths in Bengal?"

Lahaul-Spiti cut off from Himachal, Chamba snow slide damages shops

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

A snow slide caused major property damage and panic among residents in the tribal Bharmour region of Himachal Pradesh's Chamba district late Tuesday night.

Heavy snowfall has paralysed normal life in the tribal district of Lahaul-Spiti, cutting it off from the rest of the state. Sources said that snow slid and fell onto the Ot Nala area of Pulan Panchayat thus causing damage to property and triggering panic among local residents.

A huge portion of snow broke off from the mountain following continuous snowfall and crashed down rocks, and debris. Thus, two pick-up vehicles, and three roadside shops were completely destroyed. These vehicles, which had come from Bharmour carrying goods, were parked near Ot Nallah on Tuesday evening.

Both the vehicles got thrown into a deep gorge, leaving no visible trace. But no casualties were reported as people had vacated the area in time. Three shops also suffered extensive damage. Locals said that a snow slide of this size had happened in their area for the first time in nearly fifty years, creating fear and anxiety among residents. The incident follows exceptionally heavy snowfall in the region. The area received 3 to 4 feet of snowfall on January 23 and 24, followed by more than two feet of fresh snowfall last night, during which the snow slide occurred.

The local authorities have advised residents to remain cautious as unstable snow conditions continue to pose risks in high-altitude areas.

- Massive snow slide hit Ot Nala, Bharmour, Chamba, causing property damage and panic
- Two pick-up vans and three shops destroyed; no casualties
- Locals said such a slide hadn't occurred in 50 years
- Heavy snowfall: 3–4 feet (Jan 23–24) plus 2+ feet on Tuesday night
- Rescue and damage assessment hampered by snow and rough terrain
- 885 roads and four highways have been closed; 3,237 transformers and 121 water schemes have been disrupted

Uttarakhand approves green hydrogen policy

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

IN a decisive move to bolster clean energy and national security, Uttarakhand cabinet, chaired by CM Pushkar Singh Dhami, on Wednesday approved the Uttarakhand Green Hydrogen Policy 2026.

The policy is aimed at leveraging the state's vast hydropower potential to establish a robust green hydrogen ecosystem, aligning with India's global net-zero commitments.

A government spokesperson stated that the policy is designed to synchronise with the National Green Hydrogen Mission 2023. "By utilising our abundant water resources, we are not just looking at environmental sustainability but also at creating a new industrial frontier that generates significant employment," the official further added.

With the launch of the Green Hydrogen Policy 2026, Uttarakhand is poised to transform its hydropower potential into a clean energy hub.

CLEAN ENERGY

1. The state is set to transform its hydropower potential into a clean energy hub
2. It has introduced a fiscal measure for environmental conservation
3. Cabinet also cleared a new way for land acquisition

In a significant strategic development, the Cabinet cleared the transfer of the Chinyalisaur airstrip in Uttarkashi and the Gauchar airstrip in Chamoli to the Ministry of Defence. These will be developed as Advanced Landing Grounds (ALGs) for joint civil and military operations. Given their proximity to the international border, the move is seen as a major step in strengthening frontier logistics.

The state also introduced a new fiscal measure for environmental conservation by approving groundwater extraction charges for non-agricultural and commercial users. While the agricultural sector and government drinking water supplies remain exempt, industries, hotels, water parks, and group housing societies will now face tiered charges. These rates will be determined based on the classification of zones—ranging from safe to over-exploited.

To streamline infrastructure development, the Cabinet approved a new mechanism for land acquisition through mutual agreement. This move is intended to bypass the lengthy litigation often associated with the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act 2013, thereby reducing project costs and timelines.

In a relief to state employees, a one-time inter-district transfer policy was approved for health workers and supervisors under the Medical, Health and Family Welfare Department. Eligible staff can seek a transfer after completing five years of satisfactory service.

Furthering industrial growth, the Cabinet sanctioned the sub-leasing of 1,354.14 acres at Prag Farm in Udham Singh Nagar to SIDCUL. Additionally, to improve grassroots governance in tribal regions, the Uttarakhand Tribal Welfare Gazetted Officers Service (Amendment) Rules 2025 were cleared, creating four new District Tribal Welfare Officer posts in Dehradun, Chamoli, Udham Singh Nagar, and Pithoragarh.

The true identity of Chhattisgarh lies in its tribal traditions that are lived and experienced through dance, music, crafts, traditional cuisine, forest-based medicines and sacred village shrines. The efforts towards establishing peace in Bastar are yielding positive results. The number of competitive disciplines in Bastar Pandum is 12 and include tribal dance, music, theatre, etc.

Nava Raipur gets ₹22.5 cr boost for electronics

In a major boost to strengthen Nava Raipur's position as an emerging hub for electronics and semiconductor manufacturing, the Centre has sanctioned significant financial assistance to promote it. The ministry of Electronics and Information Technology has approved the first instalment of ₹22.5 crore for the Common Facility Centre (CFC) being set up in Nava Raipur under the Electronics Manufacturing Clusters (EMC 2.0) Scheme. The fund has been released after obtaining the approval of the President of India. The Common Facility Centre is expected to provide infra such as advanced machinery, testing facilities, etc.

Beyond policy: 10 best innovations recognised

All district authorities have been categorically reminded that innovation in governance is not an option but a responsibility and the good governance should be realised not merely through policies but by means of consistent innovative and realistic performances. And to encourage it, the awards instituted by the department of Good Governance & Convergence, were given to 10 best innovations among the 312 received in public services, governance. They were bestowed with 'Chief Minister's Excellence Awards 2025–26'. It was through a rigorous, multi-stage evaluation framework the selection process of awards was carried out.

Time running out for Iran to do deal on N-weapons: Don

Points to armada in Wasia; Iran refuses to hold talks under duress

WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump on Wednesday renewed threats to attack Iran, saying "time is running out" to make a deal on nuclear weapons, after Tehran rejected talks.

"Hopefully Iran will quickly 'Come to the table' and negotiate a fair and equitable deal — no nuclear weapons — one that is good for all parties. Time is running out," the US leader said in a social media post, noting that "a massive armada is heading to Iran." "As I told Iran once before, make a deal! They didn't, and there was 'Operation Midnight Hammer,' a major destruction of Iran. The next attack will be far worse!"

The dialing up of threats came after Iran's top diplomat said the country would not come to the table under the shadow of military action.

"Conducting diplomacy through military threat cannot be effective or useful," Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi said in televised comments on Wednesday. "If they want negotiations to take shape, they must certainly set aside threats, excessive demands and raising illogical issues."

Donald Trump | AP

Trump has repeatedly left open the option of new military action against Iran after Washington backed and joined Israel's 12-day war in June aimed at degrading Iranian nuclear and ballistic missile programmes.

Earlier this month, he threatened to strike Iran over its deadly crackdown on anti-government protests. But the prospect of immediate American action seemed to recede in recent days, with both sides insisting on giving diplomacy a chance.

With a US naval strike group led by an aircraft carrier lurking in the region, top Iranian officials also reached out to key Arab states in behind-the-scenes diplomacy to rally support. A strike group led by the USS Abraham Lincoln has now arrived in Middle Eastern waters, US Central Command said, without revealing its precise location.

Meanwhile, Iranian officials reached out to the wider Middle East on Wednesday over the threat of a possible US military strike on the country, a month since the start of protests in Iran that soon spread nationwide and sparked a bloody crackdown. AFP

NEW REPORT WARNS UKRAINE WAR CASUALTIES COULD REACH 2 MILLION

KYIV

A new report warns that the number of soldiers killed, injured or missing on both sides of Russia's war on Ukraine could hit 2 million by the spring, with Russia suffering the largest number of troop deaths recorded for any major power in any conflict since World War II.

Tuesday's report from the Center for Strategic and International Studies came less than a month before the fourth anniversary of Moscow's full-scale invasion of Ukraine on February 24. As the war grinds through another bitterly cold winter, Russian strikes hit an apartment block Wednesday on the outskirts of Kyiv, killing two people. Nine others were injured in attacks in the Ukrainian cities of Odesa and Kryvyi Rih and the front-line Zaporizhzhia region. The CSIS report said Russia suffered 1.2 million casualties, including up to 325,000 troop deaths, between February 2022 and December 2025.

"Despite claims of battlefield momentum in Ukraine, the data shows that Russia is paying an extraordinary price for minimal gains and is in decline as a major power," the report said. "No major power has suffered anywhere near these numbers of casualties or fatalities in any war since World War II." It estimated that Ukraine, with its smaller army and population, had suffered between 500,000 to 600,000 military casualties, including up to 140,000 deaths.

People pass by damaged cars near an apartment building after a Russian attack in Zaporizhzhia in Ukraine | AP

Neither Moscow nor Kyiv gives timely data on military losses, and each side seeks to amplify the other side's casualties.

Commenting on the report, Kremlin spokesperson Dmitry Peskov said Wednesday that the research could not be considered "reliable information" and that only Russia's Ministry of Defense was authorized to provide information on military losses. AP

Putin supports Syria rebuild as al-Sharaa visits

MOSCOW: Syria's interim President Ahmad al-Sharaa visited Moscow on Wednesday for the second time in less than four months, and Russian President Vladimir Putin emphasised his readiness to help the country rebuild its war-battered economy. "I know that there is a lot that's necessary to restore in Syria, and our economic operators, including the construction sector, are ready for this joint work," Putin said. The talks also were expected to focus on the future of Russian military bases in Syria, a key foothold for Moscow in the Mediterranean. Putin said Russia has supported Syria's government's effort to restore control over its entire territory, including areas controlled by the Kurds. "We have closely followed your efforts to restore Syria's territorial integrity, and I would like to congratulate you on this process gaining speed," Putin said. "You know that we always stood for the restoration of Syria's territorial integrity, the country's integrity, and we support all your efforts in this direction." AP

Suspect held for attacking Dem rep Ilhan Omar

MINNEAPOLIS

Man tackled to ground after spraying substance on US Rep Ilhan Omar | AP

A man sprayed an unknown substance on Democratic US Rep Ilhan Omar and was tackled to the ground on Tuesday during a town hall in Minneapolis, where tensions over federal immigration enforcement have come to a head after agents fatally shot an intensive care nurse and a mother of three this month.

The audience cheered as the man was pinned down and his arms were tied behind his back. In video of the incident, someone in the crowd can be heard saying, "Oh my god, he sprayed something on her."

Just before that Omar had called for the abolishment of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement and for Homeland Security Secretary Kristi Noem to resign or face impeachment. Calls are mounting on Capitol Hill for Noem to step down after the shooting deaths in Minneapolis of two people who protested deportations. Few Republicans have risen to her defense. "ICE cannot be reformed," Omar said, seconds before the attack.

Minneapolis police said officers saw the man use a syringe to spray an unknown liquid at Omar. They immediately arrested him and booked him at the county jail for third-degree assault, spokesperson Trevor Folke said. Forensic scientists responded to the scene. Police identified the man as 55-year-old Anthony Kazmierczak. AP

EU FTA: 90% of auto mkt remains protected

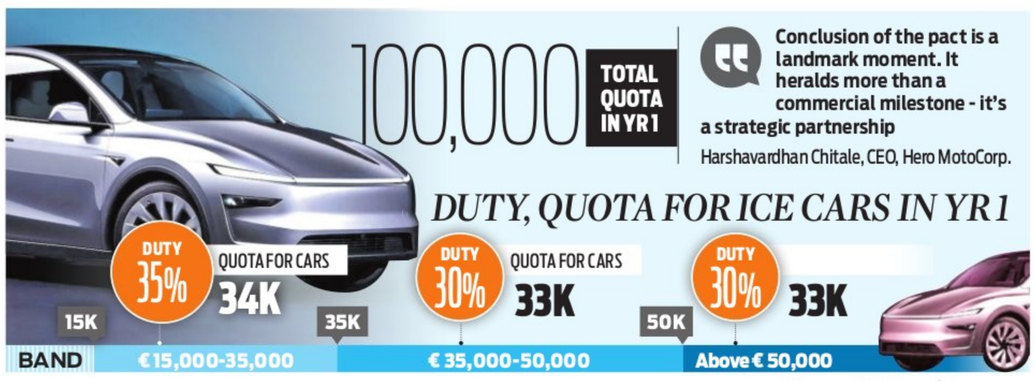
Opening up auto sector to bring high-end manufacturing processes, quality standards, R&D practices, says govt

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

DESPITE India opening up its automobile sector under the newly-concluded free trade agreement (FTA) with the European Union (EU), over 90% of the Indian auto market will remain protected, said the Commerce Ministry on Wednesday.

The government said it has adopted a calibrated, phased and development-oriented, quota-based liberalisation strategy to safeguard domestic manufacturers, while encouraging European original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) to set up local assembly operations in India.

"This serves as a stepping stone, moving foreign OEMs from importing to assembling and eventually to full localisation as they build local supply chains. This will bring high-end manufacturing processes, quality standards and advanced R&D practices into the Indian ecosystem," the ministry said.



Source: Ministry of Commerce

Under the agreement, import tariffs on EU-manufactured cars will be reduced from as high as 110% to 10% within an annual quota of 250,000 vehicles. This includes concessional duties for 160,000 internal combustion engine (ICE) vehicles and 90,000 electric vehicles (EVs) per year, with EV-specific concessions kicking in from the fifth year of implementation.

In addition, up to 75,000 completely knocked-down (CKD) ICE vehicles will be permitted annually at a reduced duty of 8.25%. Multiple pricing bands have been created, ranging from €10,000 (about ₹11 lakh) to €60,000 (about ₹66 lakh and above), with differentiated quotas and duty rates for each category. In the first year, duties will range between 30% and 35%. "Nearly 90% of cars sold in India are priced below ₹15 lakh. The lowest price bands are fully protected, and some are partially protected. We have allowed competition, but not in a way that wipes out our industry," commerce secretary Rajesh Agrawal said. "Our market is large. There is a chance that European manufacturers may not even be able to fully utilise the quota initially, but they may create demand." The policy is aimed at stimulating demand and nudging European automakers to invest in India to serve the domestic market over the long term.

To prevent misuse of the concessional regime, the government has also built in safeguards to ensure that only traditional and long-standing EU automobile manufacturers benefit from the FTA. "There were concerns that new manufacturers could set up shop in the EU and start dumping vehicles into India. That has been addressed," said Darpan Jain, chief negotiator for the India-EU FTA. "India has reserved the right to allocate and limit quotas to established European manufacturers."

ANNUAL REPORT

Ahead of Budget, Sitharaman to table Eco Survey today

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government will table the Economic Survey 2025-26, an annual report on the economic health of the country, on Thursday ahead of the Budget on February 1. Apart from being the report card for economic performance of the country during the financial year, the survey, of late, has also doubled up as a document for bold forward looking policy ideas for the government.

At a time when the finance ministry has declared the present macro-economic situation as 'goldilocks period' of high growth and low inflation, the Economic Survey report on Thursday should not shy away from prescribing any bitter pills, if needed. In his last year's survey report, chief economic advisor V Anantha Nageswaran advocated driving economic growth through deregulations.

"That means rolling back regulation significantly. That means vowing and acting to stop micromanaging economic activity and embracing risk-based regulations. That means changing the operating principle of regulations from 'guilty until proven innocent' to 'innocent until proven guilty," said the survey last year. This year, the survey report should give a status check on the efforts the government made towards this goal.

The survey had a chapter on artificial intelligence (AI) and its implications for employment. But it didn't answer the question on AI's effect on jobs. Some answers are due in this year's report.

RUN-UP TO BUDGET

The survey comes at a time when India clinched a trade deal with the EU, bringing hope for exporters wilting under punitive 50% US tariff. It should come up with some ideas to shield export sector from adverse impact of US policies, especially at a time when the industry is hoping for big Customs duty reforms.

The economy has shown resilience amid a fluid geopolitical situation, but it is not out of the woods, think analysts and economists. "The domino effects of a new emerging order of realpolitik, largely opaque, yet frightening, cascading down the annals of global financial markets with misplaced trust being the lynchpin of rout across stretched equities and bond markets," the economists at SBI summarise the current situation.

Plan to increase food safety audits: EU Commission

INDIA-EU FTA seeks to open markets while protecting sensitive agricultural sectors.

As per EU Commission, both sides have opted for bilateral safeguard mechanism to keep European tariffs on a list of sensitive products, including beef, sugar, rice, chicken meat, milk powder, honey, bananas, wheat, garlic and ethanol, shielding domestic producers from surge in imports. While EU has offered a vast market for majority of the Indian agri exporters, health and food safety remain non-negotiable for the EU. "We will maintain our robust heath and food safety systems and remain independent in adopting safety criteria for products reaching the EU market," stated EU. ENS

Indian apples to gain zero-duty access to the EU mkt

Indian apples will gain zero-duty access to the EU market over a period of 5-7 years, opening up premium export opportunities for domestic growers. The government said the quota offered under the FTA broadly aligns with the EU's existing export volumes to India

UNDER the newly negotiated free trade agreement (FTA) with the European Union (EU), India has partially opened its agriculture sector while retaining a high minimum import price (MIP) and tightly controlled quotas to protect farmers' interests, commerce ministry said.

Under the FTA, preferential market access has been extended to select agricultural products such as tea, coffee, spices, grapes, gherkins and cucumbers, dried onions, fresh fruits and vegetables, as well as certain processed food products. However, sensitive segments including dairy, cereals, poultry, soymeal, and several fruits and vegetables have been excluded from the agreement.

Explaining the safeguards, the ministry cited apples as a key example. Under the FTA, the EU will be allowed to export up to 50,000 tonne of apples annually to India—rising to 100,000 tonne over a 10-year period—at a concessional duty of 20%, subject to a minimum import price of ₹80 per kg. This translates into a minimum effective landed cost of nearly ₹96 per kg. "This preserves domestic price stability while safeguarding farmer incomes, supports the strong market position of locally produced apples," the ministry added.

India imported about 500,000 tonne of apples in 2024, with the EU accounting for over 11% of total imports. The government said the quota offered under the FTA broadly aligns with the EU's existing export volumes to India, limiting the risk of a sharp rise in imports. These shipments are expected to largely substitute existing import sources rather than expand overall apple imports.

In return, Indian apples will gain zero-duty access to the EU market over a period of five to seven years, opening up premium export opportunities for domestic growers.

"We have structured this in a way that our apple producers are not disadvantaged in any manner," commerce secretary Rajesh Agrawal said. "These imports are segmented and priced at a different level, ensuring growers in Himachal Pradesh and Jammu & Kashmir can continue supplying at current prices. At the same time, we have secured market access as we integrate further with global supply chains, there will be a two-way flow of apples."

INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY GREW AT ITS FASTEST IN 2 YRS IN DEC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

INDIA's industrial activity galloped in December last with the Index of Industrial Production (IIP) growth accelerating to 7.8% from 7.2% in November 2025, marking the fastest pace in the last 26 months, government data released on Wednesday showed.

The manufacturing sector, which has a 77.6% weight in the index, grew 8.1%, slightly slower than 8.5% in November 2025 but higher than 3.7% in December 2024. The sector was supported by 6.8% growth in mining and 6.3% rise in electricity generation.

Observing that the growth in factory output in December last exceeded expectations, ICRA's chief economist Aditi Nayar said the surprise was largely driven by the manufacturing output. She said the growth in this crucial sector was "likely aided by restocking post the festive season, even as the growth in India's non-oil exports was sluggish in the month".

Within the manufacturing sector, the computer, electronic & optical products category grew 34.9% while the motor vehicles, trailers & semi-trailers segment surged 33.5%.

Dipti Deshpande, principal economist at Crisil, said that within manufacturing, GST rationalisation is likely to have benefited sectors like food products and automobiles, but export-oriented sectors such as apparel, textiles and chemicals saw moderate IIP growth.

As per the use-based classification, primary goods and consumer sectors provided traction. Consumer durables rose 12.3% and non-durables surged 8.3%.

Deshpande said that going forward, while domestic tailwinds should support demand in consumer segments for a few more quarters, the adverse impact of higher US tariffs on export segments could get more pronounced. However, a trade deal with the US, reducing the tariff to closer to levels faced by peers, could help matters, she added.

IIP growth accelerated to a 6-quarter high of 5.2% in Q3 FY2026 from 4.3% in Q2, reflecting the improvement in the performance of the manufacturing and mining sectors.

Recent AGR resolution marks turning point for Vodafone Idea: KM Birla

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE recent resolution of the AGR (adjusted gross revenue) issue marks a turning point for Vodafone Idea, said Aditya Birla Group Chairman Kumar Mangalam Birla on Wednesday.

Birla, in an "annual reflections" note for 2025–26, said government intervention in the AGR matter has provided major relief to the company and that the operating environment has fundamentally changed. "One sector that has had its fair share of shocks and volatility for over two decades is telecom. Our joint venture, Vodafone Idea, has stood in the eye of this storm, navigating one of the most protracted periods of uncertainty in the industry's history," said Birla.

The ailing VIL received relief from the Department of Telecommunications (DoT) on its AGR dues of ₹87,695 crore following a court order to the DoT. As per the repayment plan approved by the DoT, the telco will pay its AGR dues in instalments until March 2041.

India's third-largest telco said in an exchange filing that it will pay a maximum of ₹124 crore annually from March 2026 to March 2031, followed by ₹100 crore a year between March 2032 and March 2035. The balance AGR dues will be repaid in equal annual instalments over six years from March 2036 to March 2041. Birla, one of the promoters of VIL, reiterated that the recent resolution of AGR issue marks a decisive turning point.

Meanwhile, VIL reduced its net loss to ₹5,286 crore in Q3FY26 as against a loss of ₹6,609 crore in the same period last year. Revenue from operations rose 2% YoY and 1.15% QoQ to ₹11,323 crore. Average revenue per user (ARPU) increased 3% sequentially to ₹172 a month from ₹167 in the previous quarter. EBITDA stood at ₹4,816 crore, a 2.8% rise from ₹4,685 crore in the preceding quarter.

Airlines in India, South Asia to require 3,300 new aeroplanes by 2044: Boeing

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AIRLINES in India and South Asia will require 3,300 new aeroplanes by 2044 to cater to the growing demand for air travel, as per Boeing's Commercial Market Outlook (CMO) for South Asia. The aircraft major said India and South Asia's passenger air traffic will rise an average of 7% annually over the next 20 years, spurred by a growing middle class, economic growth and airport and connectivity investments.

Indian carriers hold a pending aircraft order book of about 1,700–2,000 jets as of early 2026, driven by rapid expansion from IndiGo and Air India. IndiGo leads with nearly 1,000 aircraft on order, while Air India has over 500 planes pending. Akasa Air has a major order for 150+ Boeing 737 MAX aircraft.

As per Boeing, single-aisle jets will account for 90% of these projected deliveries as airlines look to boost network flexibility on fast-growing short- and medium-haul routes.

Accounting for growth and replacement, the Indian and South Asian region's fleet will grow from 795 to 2,925 aeroplanes in two decades, a four-fold increase over that time. Domestic travel that connects India will underpin this expansion, supported by a continuing shift from rail to air and investments in the country's airport infrastructure.

"As air travel becomes more integral to how people and goods move in India and South Asia, airlines will strengthen networks, scale fleets and invest in services and technical personnel to support long-term growth," said Ashwin Naidu, Boeing managing director of commercial marketing, Eurasia and Indian Subcontinent. To support expected fleet growth, investment in the South Asia region's industry will require more than $195 billion in aviation services, including maintenance, repair and modifications, digital services and training.

USA batter Jones provisionally suspended for fixing

The International Cricket Council on Wednesday provisionally suspended USA batter Aaron Jones for alleged fixing during the BIM10 league in Barbados back in 2023-2024. Jones, who was part of the USA squad which made the super eight stage on its T20 World Cup debut in 2024, has also been charged for failing to disclose a corrupt approach to concerned authorities and not helping in the investigation of the alleged offence.

Some sellers but lots of potential buyers — explaining the IPL paradox

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

IN the world of commodities, precious metals like gold and silver are enjoying a record-breaking rally because of a combination of factors. But nobody knows how long it will last. There have been sellers who have profit booked but buyers have been happy to jump on the bandwagon. Likewise, Indian Premier League (IPL) teams — owners to be more precise — are in the news. Some owners want to cash in but potential buyers are already forming an orderly queue to own a piece of one of India's biggest cultural exports of the 21st century.

Per Bloomberg, Rajasthan Royals are currently valued at over a billion dollars and a sale could be in the works. If Royals, one of the founding eight and the cheapest franchise when they were bought for just over $65mn in 2008, are sold for over a billion, it directly explains why some of the first investors are looking to exit. They think that while the product has shown that it's recession proof — and is capable of making money even during global headwinds (Covid being one of them) — the valuation maybe inflated.

One of the big tests facing the 10 IPL franchises is the next TV rights deal. It will come into being post the 2027 season but there's a feeling that the growth witnessed in the last auction cycle may be missing. Post the Star merger with Jio, it remains to be seen if an OTT giant like Netflix will be convinced to make the auction a competition.

VALUATION RATE/MATCH

₹54.2 cr — Per match value in 2018-22 cycle

₹107.5 cr — Per match value in the existing rights cycle

PER MATCH VALUE IN THE NEXT CYCLE ?

Sony may be tempted but only if the price is right and there's a feeling that they will not. It's also why the International Cricket Council (ICC) have warned some of their members to expect a significant hair cut in terms of media rights for the next cycle (as reported by this daily first). They expect a 30 per cent reduction. While there may be more interest in the IPL, the league could face a challenge in this avenue.

"I don't think you are going to get a huge jump this time," said N Santosh, managing partner at D & P Advisory, an independent valuation company. "There will be some growth but I don't see revenues being doubled like we saw the last time the rights went through the (bidding) process." Apart from the above-mentioned reasons, another factor why no broadcaster will match that jump is because of the ban on real money gaming websites. They were a proper money-spinner but because of the loss of advertising revenue, the broadcaster has had to pivot and its effects may be felt in March itself. After years of RMG-based ads dominating the advertising ecosystem during the IPL, what will teams and the league do for ROI?

Why the interest

But then why are there multiple potential owners? Per this daily's reckoning, there are multiple interested parties wanting to buy or at least owning a piece of at least three franchises and as many as four franchises — RCB, RR, LSG and KKR (other teams' co-owners or outright owners will be viewing this space with interest). A fifth — CSK — do have the option of going the IPO way to raise money (their shares trade in the unlisted market with LIC one of the big investors).

The IPL is well placed to go from 14 to 18 league games every season. While the original plan was for the IPL to hit that number a few years ago, they have option of pressing that button whenever. Because the IPL is a closed league with no threat of relegation, there's guaranteed income and revenue generation on a yearly basis. While there's a merit linked incentive ensuring that teams who win the league make more money than the team in 10th, there's an equal split of the central pool. So, there's no threat of a Mumbai Indians or RCB or CSK — the most popular teams by a lot of metrics — of taking home more money than some of the other teams. US hedge funds and US businessmen, especially, like a closed system. It's why a lot of them have started to take interest in owning T20 teams in leagues.

Potential new league

Then, there's the tantalising prospect of the return of Champions League T20. All of these are money-making opportunities. While Santosh agreed with this assessment — "they are possible scenarios, especially the tournament guaranteeing 18 league matches every year" — he's also mindful that owning or part-owning a team is, first and foremost, 'a trophy asset, signalling status'.

Batter short, batters come up 50 runs short

Surya & Co drop a batter as they experiment before World Cup but it backfires; Black Caps pick up first T20I win of the tour

GOMESH S @ Visakhapatnam

FOR a while, there was a deathly silence at the ACA-VDCA Stadium on Wednesday. It was a full house with 22,333 turning up to cheer for India, but there was not much to cheer. Chasing the 216-run target set by New Zealand, the hosts had lost their top three for only 55 runs in 6.4 overs. Abhishek Sharma was caught at deep point on the very first ball when he charged at Matt Henry, trying to slash him. It is one of the very few areas where Abhishek is prone to get out early, and New Zealand did not waste any time getting the desired result. Suryakumar Yadav was almost caught on the last ball of the same over, but got lucky. That luck, however, did not last long. All Surya could manage was two fours before he offered a return catch to Jacob Duffy, but this time the ball actually carried.

India were 9/2 after two overs, with a silence engulfing the stadium. They knew they were a batter short. It was a choice they made consciously as they replaced the injured Ishan Kishan with Arshdeep Singh. At the toss, the Indian captain said that the batters would just have to take some extra responsibility. But the skipper himself was back in the pavilion after 12 balls. Enter Rinku Singh. Rinku joined Samson — who was already under pressure to perform — in the middle and immediately took the pressure off the opener. The left-hander sent Zak Foulkes for consecutive sixes, and Samson joined the party. Together, they took India to 53/2 by the end of the powerplay.

And when they were in the middle, it seemed like the crowd found a voice. However, once the opener fell, silence took over. And it continued even as Ish Sodhi and Mitch Santner piled pressure on Rinku and Hardik Pandya. Hardik, arguably the cleanest spin hitter in the team, tried to put some pressure back but was not able to connect and eventually fell.

New Zealand players celebrate Shivam Dube's wicket on Wednesday | G SATYANARAYANA

2nd New Zealand's 215 in Vizag is their second-highest total against India in a T20I match

4 Number of catches taken by Rinku Singh, the joint-most for an Indian outfielder alongside Ajinkya Rahane in T20Is

The sombre mood continued, barring the occasional cheer when Rinku or Shivam Dube found a boundary. And when Rinku was trapped on the pads at the halfway mark, it seemed like the game was over. Some fans on the upper-tier stands started leaving their seats in a bid to beat the jam after the match. 129 runs needed from 54 balls, with Shivam Dube the last recognised batter, or rather a batting all-rounder. With him at the other end was Harshit Rana. Dube decided it was his turn to take some responsibility. He smashed three sixes and two fours of Ish Sodhi — a positive match-up for the left-hander — in a single over. Every time he launched the leggie into oblivion, it seemed like the ball was travelling out of the ground before coming down into the stands.

Within a span of six balls, he breathed some life into the contest. And the fans found their voice too. For the time being, at least. So much so that a steady chant of 'Dube, Dube, Dube' started to emerge between balls. And the Mumbaikar fed off it, hitting two more sixes off Duffy before sending Henry into the stands. His fifty came off just 15 balls as Dube and India inched closer. There was a close run-out call for Rana, an LBW overturned for Dube; it seemed like it was his day after all. Until it wasn't.

Rana hit Henry back, and the ball brushed his fingers before catching Dube (65 off 23 balls) out of the crease at the non-striker's end. An unfortunate end to a valiant effort and also India's challenge.

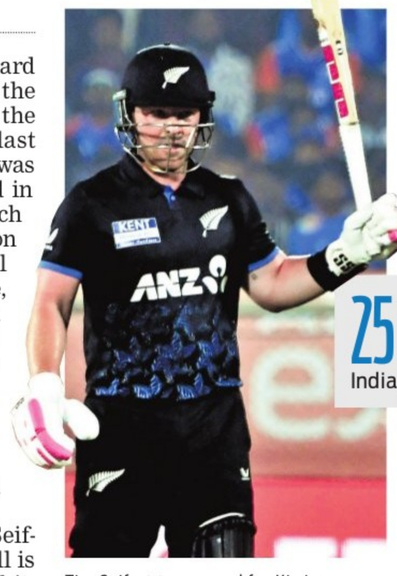
Brief scores: NZ 215/7 in 20 ovs (Seifert 62; Arshdeep 2/33) bt India 165 in 18.4 ovs (Dube 65; Santner 3/26).

Seifert, Black Caps' McCullum-like hitter at the top

GOMESH S @ Visakhapatnam

WHEN Tim Seifert took guard against Jasprit Bumrah in the fifth over of the match at the ACA-VDCA Stadium, the last thing he would have wanted was a repeat of what happened in Guwahati. Seifert got a peach of a delivery from Bumrah on the very first ball of his spell and lost his off-stump. Here, he had done the hard work, thrashing Harshit Rana and Arshdeep Singh all over the park, getting to 38 from 17 balls. Not the kind of start he would want to give away. Seifert did the safest thing he could do against Bumrah, take a single.

However, the thing with Seifert though, is that if the ball is in his zone, he will try and hit. The New Zealander has had a reputation for it right from the time he broke into the circuit way back in 2018. A very Brendon McCullum-esque hitting style, especially in the power play, is what he had been known for. He charges at pacers, slaps them through the line with his fast hands and tried to get underneath deliveries before launching them. That is what he did to Rana and Arshdeep in the first four overs. Full deliveries were sent down the ground or over cover, and then he had a slice of luck where leading edges flew over third-man.



Tim Seifert top-scored for Kiwis on Wednesday | G SATYANARAYANA

25 balls Seifert took to reach his fifty. This is the joint-quickest half-century for a NZ batter against India, alongside Taylor and Williamson

Just because Bumrah is Bumrah, Seifert wasn't going to lay low. Off the third delivery in Bumrah's first over, he smashed a length ball from Bumrah over his head and into the stands. In front of a silent Indian crowd, Seifert was doing what he does best. Teeing off. Over the last few years, that is all he has been doing across the globe. One of the several New Zealand players who opted out of central contracts, Seifert has a casual playing agreement with the board. This allows him to be a T20 globe-trotter — a journey to which the seeds were laid in the 2020 Caribbean Premier League where Seifert helped Trinbago Knight Riders win the title under McCullum.

Over the last 12 months, he has played in the Big Bash League, ILT20, Major League Cricket, Pakistan Super League and the Caribbean Premier League. In fact, till January 17, he was donning the Melbourne Renegades jersey in BBL. It was a two-year deal from them that allowed him to opt out of the NZC contract. And when he is not playing in franchise leagues, despite not having a domestic contract, Seifert turns up for Northern Districts to stake a claim for his place in the New Zealand T20I side.

All this experience around the world has allowed him to upskill himself against spinners as well. It was visible on Wednesday, with Ravi Bishnoi and Kuldeep Yadav taking a beating till he was in the middle. Even in Raipur, his dismissal came against the run of play when he tried to take on Varun Chakravarthy.

Three-way race for Ranji QFs in Group A

ENS/AGENCIES @ Jamshedpur

IT'S a three-way race to quarterfinals in Group A with Andhra set to take one of the two spots given the fact that their league match is against Nagaland. Nagaland have lost five out of last six matches and a win or even a first innings lead against them will be enough for Andhra, who are first on the table with 28 points, to progress.

Second-placed Jharkhand and Vidarbha, a rung below them, are tied on points with both on 25 points. Jharkhand will take on Odisha while defending champions Vidarbha play Uttar Pradesh in their last league match. Either one of them will make it to the knockout stages unless Andhra lose their match, which looks highly unlikely.

SELECT MATCHES

Group A: At Jamshedpur: Jharkhand vs Odisha; At Salem: Tamil Nadu vs Baroda, At Sovima: Nagaland vs Andhra. Group B: At Porvorim: Goa vs Kerala; At Mohali: Punjab vs Karnataka. Group D: At Mumbai: Mumbai vs Delhi; At Hyderabad: Hyderabad vs Chhattisgarh

TN take on Odisha

SALEM: Tamil Nadu managed to carve the first win of the season when they beat Odisha. They play Baroda and will look to end the campaign on a high by not only winning the match but also finishing in top 5.

Badoni to miss match

MUMBAI: Delhi captain Ayush Badoni and batter Priyansh Arya will miss the Ranji Trophy match against Mumbai starting here on Thursday as they have been called-up to the India A side for T20 World Cup warm-up matches. Ayush Doseja will thus lead Delhi in the contest to be played here at the MCA-BKC Ground.

India A will play against the USA at Navi Mumbai's DY Patil Stadium on February 2 before heading to Bengaluru where they will take on Namibia at the Centre of Excellence. Badoni had earlier this month received a maiden call-up to the Indian team during their three-match ODI series against New Zealand.

Kerala vs Goa

PORVORIM: Kerala are languishing at the bottom of Group B and will look to salvage some pride when they face Goa, who are fifth on the points table, in their last match.

Karnataka seek comeback

MOHALI: Madhya Pradesh inflicted a defeat on Karnataka in the last round pushing them to No 3 on the points table. Karnataka would look to bounce back when they meet Punjab. With Maharashtra (24) and MP (22) placed first and second, Karnataka, who are third with 21 points, have to finish in top 2 to qualify for the quarterfinals.

Women's T20 WC: B'desh, Dutch qualify

KATHMANDU: Bangladesh and the Netherlands on Wednesday booked two of the four available spots at the ICC Women's T20 World Cup 2026 as the Super Six stage of the Qualifier got underway here. The Netherlands will play in their first ever T20 World Cup after quick scoring saw them to victory over the USA by DLS method. Bangladesh beat Thailand by 39 runs as Sobhana Mostary top-scored with 59. Quick scoring from the Netherlands powered them to a 21-run win over USA. The event will be held in England and Wales from June 12 to July 5.

George, Manjunath progress to 2nd round

BANGKOK: India's Kiran George and Mithun Manjunath advanced to the second round of the men's singles with contrasting wins over their respective rivals at the Thailand Masters Super 300 badminton tournament here on Wednesday. Seeded seventh, George took just 27 minutes to get the better of world no. 45 Sholeh Aidil 21-15, 21-9, while world no. 60 Manjunath stunned eighth seed Magnus Johannesen of Denmark 21-12, 9-21, 21-17. Tharun Mannepalli also entered the second round, beating Thailand's Kantaphon Wangcharoen 22-20, 21-17.

I-League begins on Feb 21, two-stage format this season

ENS @ Chennai

THOUGH delayed, the dates for the I-League dates for 2025-26 season has been announced on Wednesday after a meeting between the I-League clubs and the All India Football Federation (AIFF). The I-League is scheduled to kick off on February 21. The AIFF and the clubs met to propose the structure and framework of the league as well. Like in the Indian Super League, here too there is a proposal to form a committee to run the league. According to AIFF, a Governing Council and a Managing Committee would be formed. "The charter for the Governing Council, along with the roles and responsibilities of the Management Committee, will be presented to the EC for approval," said and AIFF statement.

The 2025-26 season will feature a two-stage format. Stage 1 will see the participating clubs compete in a single-leg home-and-away round-robin format. In Stage 2, the teams get divided into two groups. Those that finished in the top half in Stage 1 will advance to a home-and-away championship round, while the bottom half will compete in a centralised relegation round. All points from the initial stage will carry forward to preserve the competitive context of the league.

Lucky Djokovic advances after Musetti retires

AFP @ Melbourne

NOVAK Djokovic admitted he got lucky after opponent Lorenzo Musetti retired hurt on Wednesday to send the Serbian great into his 13th Australian Open semifinal and a showdown with reigning champion Jannik Sinner.

Earlier on day 11 in Melbourne, Jessica Pegula and Elena Rybakina both won in straight sets and will meet for a place in the final.

The 38-year-old Djokovic, chasing an all-time record 25th Grand Slam crown, has the tennis Gods smiling on him.

His last-16 opponent Jakub Mensik pulled out without a ball being hit and Musetti was forced to retire with the Italian leading 6-4, 6-3, 1-3 on Rod Laver Arena.

Results (quarterfinals) Men: Novak Djokovic bt Lorenzo Musetti 4-6, 3-6, 3-1 ret, Jannik Sinner bt Ben Shelton 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Women: Jessica Pegula bt Amanda Anisimova 6-2, 7-6 (1), Elena Rybakina bt Iga Swiatek 7-5, 6-1.

The fifth-seeded Musetti was well on top when he needed treatment on his upper right leg, and with his movement badly impeded, was forced to reluctantly throw in the towel.

"I feel really sorry for him, he was the far better player, I was on my way home tonight," said Djokovic, who had been uncharacteristically error strewn and staring down the barrel.

"It has happened to me a few times. He was in full control.

"So unfortunate, I don't know what else to say.

"He should have been the winner today no doubt. I am extremely lucky to get through this one today."

Djokovic has been trying to move past Margaret Court and clinch the landmark 25 since his last major title at the US Open in 2023. It has proved increasingly difficult with the emergence of Sinner and world number one Carlos Alcaraz.

Italian second seed Sinner was sublime in sweeping past big-serving American Ben Shelton 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Sinner holds a 6-4 win-loss record over Djokovic and has won their last five encounters.

After Tuesday loss, Gukesh beats Erdogmus

WIJK AAN ZEE (THE NETHERLANDS): D Gukesh's mixed Tata Steel masters continued as he took out rising 14-year-old Yagiz Kaan Erdogmus with the black pieces on Wednesday. At one point, the world champion was worse off than the Turkid prodigy but the Indian found the precise moves. After 10 rounds, Nodirbek Adbusattorov leads the standing with 6.5 points after 10 rounds.

Earlier on Tuesday, Gukesh suffered yet another defeat, this time against Matthias Bluebaum of Germany in the ninth round while Arjun Erigaisi was settled for a quick draw with Hans Moke Niemann of US.

Exploring Margao beyond its architecture to learn more about its culture, history and local delicacies...

SRUSHTI KULKARNI

IF North Goa is the neon-soaked, high-energy older sibling who never sleeps, South Goa is the cousin who spent the morning meditating and is now reading a book under a palm tree.

We swapped our usual vacation spots of Baga and Calangute with the Southern coast home to Goa's fisherman's paradise, Colva. With the new Courtyard by Marriott Goa Colva serving as the perfect base for our sojourn, this was a serene destination offering dolphin-watching spots and in close proximity to nearby picturesque towns such as Margao. Having had our fill of white sand beaches and calm sounds of the ocean, we decided to indulge in a bit of local culture and history and 20 minutes later we found ourselves before the 450-year-old Holy Spirit Church in Margao.

Earlier that day we had signed up for The Margao Heritage Walk, one of Soul Travelling's most underrated gems. While Panjim is flashy and colorful, Margao is the soul of South Goa — it's grittier, deeply historical and feels much more lived-in. The walk commenced with our guide Pankaj Kamble familiarising us to this sacred shrine and its unique astronomical phenomenon which takes place during the equinox where the setting sun aligns perfectly to light up the three altars inside. He adds to it the story and significance of the Indian Almond Tree planted in the premises and how the area gets very damp during the monsoons as many believe there is a buried step well tank beneath the ground.

Walking across the road we make our way to a private mansion (Alvares House) that has preserved bullet holes in the walls from a dark day in 1890 when Portuguese forces fired on a crowd protesting for voting rights. The firing was believed to be opened from the church grounds earning its name as The Margao Massacre Site. The very street known as Abade Faria — also called the Billionaire's Row of old Margao — is lined with massive, sprawling Indo-Portuguese mansions that make the houses in Fontainhas look like tiny cottages.

The colony not only is home to some of the richest families in town but also houses community buildings like the Communidade which is occupied with shops even today, ruins of an old Portuguese tiles shop where one can still spot traditional and ancient designs. Among these buildings is The Miraculous Chapel of Margao where it is believed that when one loses something they pray before the deity here and miraculously the lost item finds its way back to the owner. In return the devotees hang a flower garland at the door as a sign of thank you. Right opposite the chapel is a lane of centuries-old bakeries and two-storied houses where once people lived and conducted their businesses down stairs for convenience. Here you may find the freshest poi breads and the softest paos. The lanes are dotted with traditional in-home bakeries, cashew nut trees and homes boasting gossip seats, oystershell windows and wooden engraving motifs narrating several stories.

Today, the town only has ten temples and many survived the invasive rulers thanks to a simple idea which made temples a part of people's homes instead of standalone shrines. One such name is Damodar Sal, a private house that holds a temple dedicated to Lord Damodar.

With the World Economic Forum wrapping up its 2026 edition in Davos, Switzerland, recently, three Bengalureans who were present at the summit serving their best, share a glimpse behind the scenes with Mahima Nagaraju and Vidya Iyengar

Yes, Ministers!

BISI-BISI OOTA ON DAVOS MENU

TOP chef Manu Chandra brought his touch to Davos with a catering menu for several high-profile corporate clients that seamlessly blended Indian and Swiss flavours. "My job was to put the best of India forward in interesting formats. It's peak winter, so there's only a finite number of things you will get in Switzerland, but given that it's Europe, there is a large supply chain that flows through. We tried to rely on that and appropriated Indian recipes that would match up to it," explains Chandra, adding that on different days, the menu was inspired by different regions in India.

Among South India-inspired offerings, a few drew from Karnataka's favourite treats. "We painstakingly made maddur vadae canapes, rolling them out by hand, cutting them and frying them so that we had that perfect, delicate crunch, and it behaved like a crostini or tostada. On top of that, we had a palya made of white asparagus, as that's in season right now, and fresh artichokes. We also had an asparagus-bonda soup drizzled with a nice oil I made, which was warm and comforting," says the founder, Single Thread.

Recalling the challenging circumstances surrounding a high-profile event like the WEF, Chandra, who worked with a three-member team and a small workstation, notes that the key to navigating it was extensive planning, saying, "Traffic jams were a nightmare because there were so many heads of states moving around at any given point of time. So movement of materials was constantly under scrutiny and it took forever to get from point A to B. And of course, US President Donald Trump was present this time, so the security was even more enhanced. Planning was key — from the packing to how we were going to keep the food warm, the menu had to be engineered on that."

One of the highlights of his days at Davos was meeting former UK PM Rishi Sunak, a moment he shared on Instagram with the cheeky caption, 'Yes Minister!', referencing his favourite British shows growing up, Yes, Minister and 'Yes, Prime Minister'. Chandra, who was also part of the 2022 Cannes, reveals that he served Sunak ghee roast with pulimanch, saying, "He just kept asking for seconds and thirds, like, 'this stuff is outstanding'. He's a great guy who is extremely knowledgeable about Indian food flavours. He was curious, asking questions, and that's what any chef wants when you spend effort, energy, time cooking something."

Let's Go Coconuts

BEYOND representing his all-coconut brand, Madhu Kargund, founder of Tengin, was carrying the untold story of a women-led collective, rural artisans and placing the humble coconut on a global map. At an event packed to the rafters with policymakers, tech CEOs and global business leaders, Kargund's samples – coconut chips and chocolate treats sweetened with coconut sugar – all homegrown in the small town of Arsikere, Hassan, where he hails from, caught businesswoman Ananya Birla's attention. "I told her the backstory of how a women-led collective comprising rural farmers was a core part of the initiative. I offered a packet too but she said she would prefer purchasing it. I thought she would have forgotten but she later shared our story on social media – all of which means a lot," Kargund tells us from Switzerland. It was quite by chance he ran into Birla. "I spotted Union Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw and wanted feedback about the chips and coconut shell souvenirs I had given him during the G20 Summit in Bengaluru. Meanwhile, someone introduced me to Ananya saying, 'He's shy but his coconut chips are awesome!'," Kargund chuckles. He goes onto add, "Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, who was also present, had already sampled our products; his wife had visited our stall at an event by FICCI FLO in Bengaluru."

It so happened that Kargund was in Buchs on a longish trip to visit his wife who works in the IT sector. Upon realising that Davos was a short train ride away, Kargund decided to hop on in the hope of a rich pay-off. Beyond networking with many others like prominent politician and TV actor Smriti Irani; Industries Minister M B Patil; he used the platform to highlight topics like how climate change and global geopolitics affect farmers, the importance of sustainable agriculture and women's economic empowerment.

Incidentally, right in the midst of the pandemic Kargund started his venture after a corporate stint. In those early days he had spoken to CE, even wondering if his move was at the right time considering the uncertain climate. But the answer seems clear with his coconut company going places.

Warmed up & how!

Naveena Neerada Dasa (in white puffer coat) at the khichdi counter

AT -10°C weather, a simple comfort food filled Davos' high-profile visitors' bellies and hearts with warmth – khichdi. A small counter set up by city-based Naveena Neerada Dasa, executive director of strategy and international relations at Akshaya Patra and World Food Movement, interested visitors as his team provided them with free bowls of the homely dish.

"We served about 1,000 meals every day and 90 per cent of the people who came were non Indians or of non-Indian origin. They loved that it had rice, which is carbohydrates, lentils as proteins, lots of veggies and spinach for vitamins – it's a complete food, and is piping hot!," he explains.

While serving a free meal may seem like a simple idea, he says the gesture acted as a means of cultural diplomacy, bringing unexpected opportunities for World Food Movement, to expand to more countries and start conversations about fighting food insecurity even in the developed world.

"For me, the greatest satisfaction is that people showed a lot of gratitude and said things like 'Oh, such food exists in India? It's such a wonderful country.' It created a lot of goodwill for India, which is where the work of food diplomacy matters a lot," he shares.

> My job was to put the best of India forward in interesting formats. It's peak winter, so there's only a finite number of things you will get in Switzerland, but given that it's Europe, there is a large supply chain that flows through. We tried to rely on that and appropriated Indian recipes that would match up to it — Manu Chandra, chef

WITH BRIDGERTON SEASON 4 SET TO PREMIERE TODAY, TELLING THE FAN-FAVOURITE BRIDGERTON BROTHER'S CINDERELLA-LIKE LOVE STORY, FANS ARE EXCITED TO TUNE IN

MASKED & MYSTERIOUS

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

WITH its sweeping balls hosted in beautiful English estates, young women twirling around the dance floor in dainty gowns, Bridgerton, when the first season debuted in 2020, gave us a much-needed escape from pandemic-ridden world into one that felt romantic, adventurous and steamy. Six years later, the series is still going strong with the highly-anticipated fourth season focussed on the second-eldest Bridgerton brother, Benedict, to hit Netflix today.

"Since season one, I've loved Benedict's charm, humour and artistic side. He was good comic relief in other seasons while still being well-written so I'm keen to see him as the main character," says medical student, Kushmitha, who has been keeping up with the promos, trailers and what people are saying about it.

While Bridgerton has been hailed for introducing diverse main characters in a period-drama setting where you would normally only expect caucasian actors, season 4 is expected to push the boundaries further with a Cinderella-like love story – the handsome rake Benedict Bridgerton becoming captivated by the 'lady in the silver gown' (Sophie) at his mother's masquerade ball, only for her to disappear before he can learn her identity. Rachel Abraham, an undergraduate student explains, "This time, it's not a couple with two upper-class characters. In the books, it's a little iffy because Benedict wants Sophie to be his mistress [because he is not allowed to marry outside his class]. But considering that they've taken a lot of effort into making sure the show has good representation, I'm very curious to see how it's going to play out."

More than anything else, what romance enthusiasts are craving is the return of longing gazes, building tension and a 'man who yearns,' in Kushmitha's words, as she explains, "A fictional man who yearns is top tier for me personally. I would love it if the energy from season two is back, because Anthony's actor, Jonathan Bailey, did such a wonderful job on that front, but season three was lacking that." The story seems set up to facilitate drama, with trailers hinting that Benedict and his sister Eloise team up to discover the lady in the silver gown's identity.

While season 3 may have received mixed reviews, several changes to the plot (from Julia Quinn's original book series) like revealing gossip columnist Lady Whistledown's identity earlier than expected, are bound to have consequences that ripple across this season. Fans seem to have few qualms with the changes. "I care more about if the emotions and the characters are feeling are right than following the book word for word. Bridgerton has always taken creative freedom, and as long as the story still feels meaningful, I'm okay with changes," says HR professional Aradhana Bangara.

The end of Season 3 left viewers on a cliffhanger that some found controversial but others look forward to seeing developed – Bridgerton sister Francesca being introduced to her husband's female cousin, while in the books, this introduction is to the man she ends up marrying after her first husband's death. Fans have speculated that this means Francesca will get a queer love story in a later season. "I am so on board with this and it is great for inclusivity. Canonically, Francesca's story is circled around her infertility and difficulty having kids but she later ends up having a child with her second husband. Now, since it's a woman, I want to see how they're going to pull it off," says content marketing specialist Kathleen George.

As the weekend approaches, fans are ready to cuddle up alone or with loved ones and tune in to escape from everyday life into a fantasy that has proven to infuse them with hope. "It's a little bit of a break from your mundane life – the costumes are extravagant, the sets are beautiful and it lets you believe in something," concludes Abraham.

I'm seeing many exercise and stretching videos that people can do while lying in bed. Is following these tutorials advisable?

I would never promote anything seen on social media platforms because they are generic and not targeted for specific individuals.

Some creators, though, are very explanatory and go into detail about who can do this, modifications, benefits, etc, which is slightly better.

ASK AN XPERT

Despite this, the stretches they show are only a part of it – there are other muscles to be stretched too. The same goes for strength and cardio, you need to introduce variations to challenge yourself and see improvement.

If the videos are for general fitness and well-explained, you can follow it, especially if you don't have time. But remember, this will not meet all your fitness needs and is not well-rounded.

THE GUT-BRAIN AXIS: WHY YOUR DIGESTION AFFECTS YOUR MOOD MORE THAN YOU THINK

Most people think of digestion and mental health as separate systems. But science now shows they are deeply connected. The gut, often referred to as the body's 'second brain', constantly communicates with the brain, influencing emotions, cognition and overall well-being. This two-way network is known as the gut-brain axis.

WHEN THE GUT AND BRAIN TALK TO EACH OTHER

- The gut-brain axis links the central nervous system with the enteric nervous system in the digestive tract. This allows the brain to influence digestion and, in return, the gut to affect mood and mental function.
- Trillions of microbes in the gut help digest food, support immunity, and produce neurotransmitters such as serotonin, dopamine, and Gamma-aminobutyric acid (GABA), which impact mood and stress levels.
- Anxiety or emotional stress can trigger gut symptoms like bloating, cramps, or diarrhoea. This is the gut-brain axis responding in real time.

HOW LIFESTYLE SHAPES THE GUT-BRAIN CONNECTION

- Diet feeds both mind and microbes: Whole, minimally-processed foods rich in fibre, healthy fats and protein, support a diverse microbiome. Fibre-rich carbohydrates act as prebiotics, while omega-3 fats and amino acids support brain chemistry.
- Highly processed foods disrupt balance: Diets high in sugar, saturated fat and ultra-processed foods are linked to inflammation, poorer gut health and worsened mental health outcomes.
- Sleep and stress matter more than we think: Poor sleep increases inflammation and disrupts gut bacteria, while chronic stress alters gut motility and microbial balance through hormonal pathways.
- Movement supports mental resilience: Regular physical activity improves microbial diversity and is associated with lower anxiety and improved mood.

The gut-brain axis reminds us that mental and physical health are not separate systems. Supporting digestion through balanced nutrition, better sleep, stress management, and regular movement can have a meaningful impact on mood, focus, and long-term health. When everyday choices support the gut, the brain benefits too. Listening to your gut is not just a metaphor. It is a biological reality backed by growing scientific evidence.

LEAKY BRAIN, ALERT!

EXPERTS DISCUSS HOW A BLOOD-BRAIN BARRIER RAISES YOUR RISK OF DEMENTIA

TEJAL SINHA

THE phrase 'leaky brain' may sound like internet shorthand, but at the heart of the conversation is the blood–brain barrier (BBB), a highly specialised protective shield that keeps the brain insulated from toxins and harmful inflammation circulating in the bloodstream. When this barrier weakens, the consequences can be profound.

"Scientifically, we refer to this as blood-brain barrier dysfunction," explains Dr Sandeep Nayani, consultant neurologist at Apollo Hospitals, adding, "The BBB is a selective interface made up of endothelial cells, tight junction proteins, pericytes and astrocytic end-feet. It allows essential nutrients to pass while keeping harmful substances out. When it becomes compromised, toxins can leak into brain tissue, triggering neuronal injury."

What has changed in recent years is the advanced imaging and molecular tools now which allow doctors to detect subtle BBB permeability changes long before visible brain damage appears. According to Dr Nayani, this has reshaped how scientists think about dementia itself. "For a long time, BBB breakdown was seen as a secondary effect of neurodegeneration. Now, growing evidence suggests it can occur very early and even trigger downstream events such as inflammation, amyloid accumulation and neuronal loss. While debate remains, the shift in thinking is clear – barrier integrity is central to how dementia develops and progresses," he says.

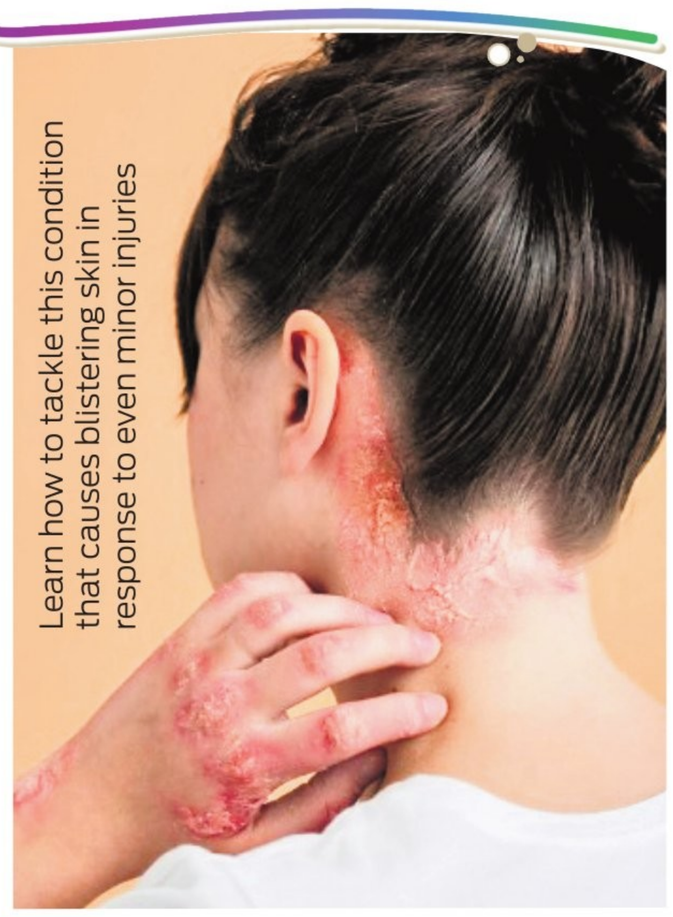
This view is echoed by Dr S K Jaiswal, clinical director and Head of neurology at CARE Hospitals. He calls 'leaky brain' a simplification of a complex, dynamic process. BBB dysfunction behaves differently across dementia subtypes. Dr Jaiswal notes that in vascular and mixed dementias, barrier damage can precede hallmarks such as amyloid plaques or tau pathology. "The emerging consensus isn't an either-or model. BBB pathology can act as an early driver, an amplifier, or a parallel process, depending on the disease," he says.

At the molecular level, BBB breakdown is rarely sudden. "Before measurable leakage, we see reduced expression of tight junction proteins, endothelial cell stress, pericyte loss and low-grade inflammation," Dr Nayani explains. These early changes weaken the barrier, but the triggers vary. In Alzheimer's disease, amyloid-beta and tau proteins damage the BBB, while in vascular dementia, chronic hypoxia and small vessel disease play a dominant role.

Dr Joy Mounica, consultant neurologist at Renova Hospitals, highlights how lifestyle and metabolic factors can aggravate this process. "Chronic inflammation, high sugar intake, sustained stress and alcohol consumption can compromise the protection, leading to 'leaky brain syndrome'."

Crucially, BBB disruption in Alzheimer's disease may begin years before memory loss becomes obvious. Dr Mounica points to research showing early BBB breakdown in the hippocampus – detectable through dynamic contrast-enhanced MRI. "This disruption is linked to the accumulation of neurotoxins like amyloid beta and abnormal tau metabolism, driving neuroinflammation before clinical symptoms appear," she explains.

Taken together, these insights are prompting a major shift. "Dementia can no longer be viewed as purely neurodegenerative," says Dr Nayani, adding, "BBB dysfunction shows how blood vessels, inflammation, metabolism and neurons are deeply interconnected." Dr Jaiswal agrees. "It opens doors to earlier intervention, better management of vascular risk factors, rather than only treating late-stage neuronal loss," he sums up.



Learn how to tackle this condition that causes blistering skin in response to even minor injuries

LIFE WITH EPIDERMOLYSIS BULLOSA

DARSHITA JAIN

SKIN that blisters at the lightest touch can sound unimaginable, but for those living with Epidermolysis Bullosa (EB), it is a daily reality. EB is a rare genetic condition in which the skin is extremely fragile, making even simple actions like holding a pen or putting on clothes a potential trigger for painful blisters and wounds.

Explaining the condition, Dr Vijaya Gowri Bandaru, consultant dermatologist at Apollo Hospitals, says, "EB is classified into three types: simplex, junctional and dystrophic depending on the skin involvement. In severe forms, especially junctional and dystrophic EB, mouth, throat and even the respiratory tract can be affected – making respiratory monitoring an essential part of care."

Managing EB, Dr Bandaru notes, revolves around meticulous wound care. She explains, "Blisters should be drained using sterile techniques to prevent them from enlarging. Non-adhesive dressings, soft silicone sheets and antibiotic ointments are commonly used to prevent infection. From a respiratory health angle, preventing skin and mucosal infections is critical, as repeated infections can weaken immunity and increase the risk of chest complications. Good hygiene, timely treatment and coordination between dermatologists and pulmonologists play a vital role."

Diagnosis, meanwhile, relies on more than what the eye can see. Dr Sherin Jose, consultant dermatologist at Yashoda Hospitals, explains that doctors consider clinical features, family history, and specialised tests. "To determine the precise skin layer and proteins impacted, a skin biopsy from a recent blister is frequently examined using immunofluorescence mapping or electron microscopy. Since genetic testing identifies the precise gene mutation and aids with prognosis, family planning, and clinical trial eligibility, it is currently regarded as the most reliable method for confirming EB. Genetic testing is typically advised by dermatologists in all suspected cases of EB, particularly in babies, when the condition is mild to severe, or when there is a positive family history," she says.

Pain and itching are often constant companions for EB patients. Dr Bandaru explains, "Pain management includes topical anaesthetics, oral painkillers and, in severe cases, opioid medications under medical supervision. Antihistamines and soothing emollients help control itching. Nutritional supplements are often advised to improve wound healing. For patients with airway involvement, inhalation therapy, humidified air, and treatment of recurrent respiratory infections become equally important."

Dr Jose says rapidly spreading blisters, signs of infection, feeding difficulties in babies, breathing trouble or sudden fatigue should not be ignored. "Red flags in babies with EB that require prompt medical attention include difficulty feeding, low weight gain, dehydration, decreased urine output, or severe agitation. Internal involvement may be indicated by swallowing difficulties, new hoarseness, breathing difficulties, or redness and pain in the eyes; these symptoms should be addressed immediately. In a known EB patient, abrupt decline in activity level or unexplained anaemia should also elicit quick assessment," she explains. Living with EB is never easy. With growing awareness, coordinated treatment and promising research, families today have more hope to face each day with confidence.

Pranam Devaraj and Prajwal Devaraj

Prajwal Devaraj turns producer with MGR, launches first film with brother Pranam

CE FEATURES

HAVING completed 40 films as an actor, which include two yet-to-be-released projects, Prajwal Devaraj is stepping into a new role as a producer, marking another milestone in his career. His first production will be headlined by his younger brother, Pranam Devaraj in the lead, marking a family-backed launch under the banner of Dynamic Venurtes in association with Sri Puratana Films. Prajwal and Shantha Murthy will jointly back the project.

In an exclusive conversation with CE during the official announcement, Prajwal says turning producer had been long overdue. With his acting commitments now wrapped up for both Karavali and Cheetah, he feels that the timing finally worked in his favour. "I was busy with my acting, and now that the shooting for both films is complete, the timing just fell in place. I thought this was the right moment to focus on production, and what better way to begin than with my brother's project," he says.

Prajwal also notes that while his father had earlier ventured into production and even made a film, this marks a fresh chapter for him personally, the decision for which is taken with his family's blessings. "I discussed this with my father, and he was happy about me taking on this new responsibility," he adds. While this marks the start of his journey as a producer, Prajwal makes it clear that his plans extend beyond one film. "I want to bring in new talents and fresh faces through my production house. That is something I want to focus on going forward," says Prajwal.

The film, starring Pranam, will be directed by Srikanth Hunsur and has been titled MGR. The makers have chosen not to reveal the meaning behind the title yet and plan to disclose more details closer to the start of shooting. This will be Srikanth's second collaboration with Pranam after S/o Muthanna, and much of the same technical team from that film is returning for this project. The only major change is in the music department, with Charan coming on board as the composer. Skating Krishna will handle the cinematography.

On the acting front, Prajwal says he is keen on projects that offer different looks and challenging characters. "Films like Karavali and Cheetah gave me very different shades to play, and I want to continue exploring unique subjects that push me in new directions," he signs off.

I FEAR LOSING MY PRODUCER'S MONEY: CHANDRASHEKAR BANDIYAPPA

The filmmaker talks about his upcoming film Chowkidhar, a generational story, and why he never chases trends, but tells stories driven by responsibility, and rooted values

A SHARADHAA

FARMER by roots, advocate by profession, and filmmaker by passion, Chandrashekar Bandiyappa still avoids calling himself a director. Instead, he prefers to see himself as an audience member telling stories from the audience's point of view. Having started with Aane Pataki (2013), followed by the hit Rathaavara (2015) starring Sriimurali and Tharakaasura (2018), he is back, eight years later, with his fourth directorial, Chowkidhar, set to release on January 30.

This time, he returns not as a filmmaker chasing trends, but as a storyteller driven by responsibility, rooted values, and quiet confidence in simple, human stories. "I never direct a film thinking I am above the audience. I always tell myself I am one among them. I try to see every scene the way a common viewer will see it," says Chandrashekar.

Recalling the release of Rathaavara in 2015, he shares a moment that stayed with him. "The night before release, the producer asked me to look for an auto. I asked what happened to his big SUV, and he told me he had sold it to pay Qube charges. I felt like I had lost someone's house. I could not sleep that night," he says. "Luckily, the next day, the film got good audiences and became a hit. The producer made back double the money, and the film did business of around Rs 20 crore. Only then did I feel peaceful."

That experience shaped his approach to filmmaking. "I fear making films that may put producers at risk. I never want to cross my moral limits. These are values I learned as a farmer and as a lawyer. Even if I make only a few films, I want to be known as a producer's director who respects the money invested," he says. Chowkidhar is produced by Dr Kallahalli Chandrashekara under the VS Entertainments banner, with Vidhyadevi joining as co-producer. Chandrashekar shares a personal connection with the producer. "In 2014, he was the principal of a college and I was his student. Today, he is my producer. I really hope we don't lose producers like him," he says.

Chandrashekar Bandiyappa and Saikumar

The film brings together an interesting mix of actors, with Pruthvi Ambaar, veteran Sai Kumar, and Dhanya Ramkumar in the lead, along with Swetha, Sudharani, Dharma, Muniraju, Arjun Kautilya, Benjamin Sandeep, and Prashant Gouli in key roles. "I watched Pruthvi in Dia and felt he is a very strong performer. Then we have Sai Kumar sir, who has completed 50 years in the industry, which itself is rare. I wanted to give him a role that is different from what he usually does, and he suited it perfectly," Chandrashekar says, before adding, "Dhanya also has a unique character in the film."

Talking about the theme, he explains that Chowkidhar is a generational story. "Earlier, families had four to six children. Today, most parents prefer one or at most two. This creates possessive love, which slowly affects the child's individuality and leads to serious consequences," he says. "Sai Kumar sir himself told me this is the first time he is playing such a role. If this character connects, the film will reach a lot of people." The film is an intense action drama that explores the thin line between duty and defiance, featuring Pruthvi Ambaar in a never-seen-before mass avatar and Sai Kumar in a powerful role. The father-son relationship in the film came from real-life observation. "I once met a man who had an only son, and someone there shared a few things about their family. That stayed with me. Most of my characters come from what I see and hear around me," he adds. Chandrashekar also mentions that Dhanya's mother, actor Poornima, was happy with her daughter's growth after the film. "She felt Dhanya had matured both as an actor and as a person after Chowkidhar. That means a lot to me," he says.

Music is composed by Sachin Basrur, whom Chandrashekar knows from the Rathaavara days. "Sachin has given strong support to the film with his score," he says. Cinematography is handled by Siddu Kanchanahalli, who has earlier worked with Bhuvan Gowda. "In every film, I try to introduce at least one or two new technicians or actors. This time too, I wanted to give an opportunity to someone who deserved it, and he has done a fine job," he adds. The film has Jnaanesh B Matad as the editor.

CE FEATURES

THE Kannada film industry has long welcomed actors from neighbouring industries, and several leading ladies have successfully made that transition. The latest to join this list is Aishwarya Sharma, best known as the female lead of the Tamil film Dude. She now steps into Sandalwood as the heroine of her first Kannada project. Aishwarya has been cast as the female lead in Shanvi Entertainment's fourth production, to be directed by Leo. The film brings story and screenplay by Ravish R C, with production handled by Deepu B S, who has earlier backed projects including the Prajwal Devaraj-starrer Rakshasa.

The casting brings a fresh yet familiar face to Kannada audiences, drawing on Aishwarya's visibility in the Tamil industry. Her performance in Dude earned attention for both screen presence and restraint, making her entry into Kannada one to watch.

The project is scheduled to go on floors in February, with auditions and final selections underway for the male lead and other key supporting roles. Details about the genre and plot remain under wraps for now, with the team expected to reveal more once the full cast is locked and filming begins.

Richa Chadha to produce series on travel and culture

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Richa Chadha is soon going to produce a non-fiction series that will "explore travel, culture, and the stories that shape people and places."

This will be the Gangs of Wasseypur (2012) actor's third project as a producer. Her debut production was Shuchi Talati's nuanced drama Girls Will Be Girls (2024), which she backed under her and husband Ali Fazal's label Pushing Buttons Studios. They also produced Nidhi Saxena's Secrets of a Mountain Serpent.

Speaking about this new creative chapter, Richa said, "I have always believed that stories exist everywhere in people, in places, in cultures we have never paused to understand. With this non-fiction series, I want to explore that world with curiosity and compassion."

"As an artist, I feel it's important to keep experimenting, keep growing, and keep challenging yourself. Girls Will Be Girls was my first step in that direction as a producer, and this new series is another leap into a space that excites me deeply," she added.

True seat-edge experiences are rare today: Siddu Moolimani

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Siddu Moolimani, who had a stint in television before making the shift to the big screen by playing pivotal roles, recently turned hero with Love U Muddu. Now, he is set to explore a new space by headlining a horror thriller. "The audition I gave for serials and cinema was in the same place. I started my journey in both simultaneously, and today, being the face of a film as a lead makes me happy," begins Siddu. "My goal has always been cinema. When I give my autograph, I sign 'Sinema', which is also a short form of my name, Siddalingesh Neelappa Moolimani. I began as a dancer, and cinema was always my aim."

Known for his witty charm and lover-boy image, Siddu says Dharani Mandala Madyadolage helped him break away from typecasting. "That film took me out of monotony and made me realise I should experiment with different kinds of roles," he says. His next release, Seat Edge, is set to hit screens on January 30, and it marks his full-fledged entry into the horror genre. "Here, I play a blogger, which today's audience can easily relate to, because everyone is used to cameras and content creation."

People now watch all kinds of films on OTT, so nothing is completely new, but seeing such stories in our language may feel unique

- Siddu Moolimani, actor

Talking about the blogging angle, Siddu says attention always follows content. "When you look at a subject deeply, that itself becomes the camera. Just showing random things will not attract people. Whether it is mobile content or theatre content, everything depends on what you are showing," he explains.

Produced by Giridhara Vasanthpura and directed by Chethan Shetty, the film also benefits from Siddu's earlier exposure to the genre. He had assisted Anup Bhandari on Rangitaranga and acted in films like Vikrant Rona, besides playing the lead in the horror film, Ooh. "So when Chethan brought me Seat Edge, I already had some idea about horror, but what attracted me was the ghost-hunter angle and the loop in the story. There is also an interesting bit inspired by Gaurav Tiwari, which adds depth," he says.

Most of the shoot happened at night, which is something Siddu enjoyed. Interestingly, he does not find the horror genre frightening. "I always look at it scientifically. Many experiences come from hallucinations and negativity. People connect that to horror, but I see it differently," he says.

Will the film live up to its title? "When we watch a film, we should forget everything and connect with the characters and story. True seat-edge experiences are rare. Shhh, directed by Upendra, created anxiety in every scene, but many horror films today feel predictable. People now watch all kinds of films on OTT, so nothing is completely new, but seeing such stories in our language may feel unique. With blogging and ghost-hunting coming together, it should be a different experience," he signs off.

Diane Lane joins Exorcist

CE FEATURES

BEST known for films like The Outsiders (1983), The Perfect Storm (2000), Under the Tuscan Sun (2003), and Man of Steel (2013), Diane will next be seen in Mike Flanagan's Exorcist. Starring Scarlett Johansson and Jacobi Jupe, the horror film is all set to release on March 12, 2027.

As reported earlier, the new film will be a standalone story unfolding within the broader Exorcist universe and will not be tied to any of the previous Exorcist films. Mike Flanagan, known for Doctor Sleep, Gerald's Game, and acclaimed series like Midnight Mass and The Haunting of Hill House, has written the script and will direct and produce the film.
